SCHOOLS GET THE MONEY!

Question 2, technology, passes by only 8 votes

By Neil Fater

After months of meetings and strategy sessions, presentations and phone calls, supporters of the $40.5 million in school projects finally let loose and celebrated.

By votes of 4,205 to 3,543 and 3,870 to 3,862, the town passed both ballot questions

Maria Marasco eyeing Senator O'Brien's job

By Don Staruk

Maria Marasco, of 191 Holt Road, is seeking the Republican party's nomination to run for state Senate, the seat currently held by Democrat John D. O'Brien Jr., who is also from Andover.

"I'm running for the seat. I'm not running against John O'Brien," Ms. Marasco said.

Ms. Marasco learned last Friday, May 13, that she has enough certified signatures to be on the ballot.

The 2nd Essex and Middlesex District includes Andover, Tewksbury, Dracut and Lawrence. Two Democratic challengers are also looking to unseat Sen. O'Brien - Frank Schools Councils give first reports

Staffing and development requests will not be met

By Neil Fater

The school system cannot afford to implement some elements of the school councils' school-improvement plans. But, talk is cheap - and school officials certainly want to hear what council members have to say.

In fact, officials have lauded the work of the council members and will seriously consider their suggestions.

However, while most recommendations do not require substantial funds at all, others, such as the popular call for greater staff and staff training, do.

Mark McQuillan, superintendent of schools, said the money-driven recommendations will be used to create a prioritized plan to be implemented if funds become available.

For now, those elements of the improvement plans will have to be relegated to places on the system's wish list.

This Music Man is heading south

Keith Gould is retiring from directing music at church and schools

By Don Staruk

Andover's own Music Man, Keith Gould, music teacher in the Andover schools for 35 years and music director at South Church for 36 years, is retiring from both positions at the end of next month.

"My last Sunday will be the 26th of June," he said last week.

Mr. Gould, 62, was hired as music director for Andover High School and the then Junior High, now West Middle School, in 1959.

"I did that for 25 years."

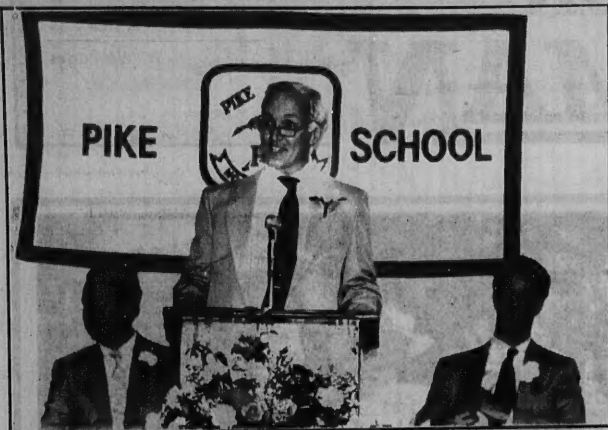

In 1982, Mr. Gould underwent quintuple-bypass surgery. Because of that and related health problems, Mr. Gould thought it best to slow down a bit.

"It got so everything I started became a first annual, and it got bigger and bigger and bigger."

So he swapped jobs with Bob Lague, now music director at the Pike School headmaster David Frothingham addressing the eighth- and ninth-grade graduating class in June, 1993.

Pike School head accepts Florida job

By Neil Fater

Instead of New England snow there will be tropical rain. Students will eat off of picnic benches instead of lunch tables. And instead of walking between insulated corridor walls to get from class to class, he will walk through glistening rays of sunshine.

A guy could get used to these changes. Over the next year or two, David Frothingham will do just that.

Mr. Frothingham, Pike School headmaster, will step down from his current position at the end of this school year and assume the role of interim headmaster of St. Mary's Episcopal Day School in Tampa, Fla. John Waters will replace him as Pike's head.

Mr. Frothingham's interim position is for one year, beginning July 1, with the possibility of a second year.

"I think it's going to be fun. I'm really excited about a totally different scene," he said. "It's going to be kind of a rejuvenating scene, to be in such a different environment."

But the Tampa-bound teaching head said it is unlikely he will remain in the South longer than the one or two years his interim position will run.

Though he spent time in both New York and New Jersey and traveled elsewhere while in the Navy, Mr. Frothingham has lived in Massachusetts almost his whole life.

"I was born in Boston and grew up in Concord," he said. "I'm a Yankee. That's one of the reasons I'm not sure I want to stay in Florida for more than two years."

But for those two years, he will experience a warmer environment, and a different kind of job.

"The job of being an interim

'I think it's going to be fun. I'm really excited about a totally different scene.'

head is more of a consulting position," said Mr. Frothingham. "It's quite different to go into a school that is somewhat in disarray and needs some focus."

St. Mary's school has been without a head since December. It is a pre-kindergarten-through-eight-grade institution that serves approximately 375 students.

"It's about the size of Pike. It's a very similar school to Pike - except it's in Florida and the corridors are outdoors," said Mr. Frothingham.

While his tenure at St. Mary's may be brief, Mr. Frothingham has been the head of Pike for the last 16 years. He labeled the academic reputation and the overall secondary placement and success of Pike graduates among his proudest accomplishments. Despite this success, however, Mr. Frothingham said he wishes he had more time to interact with students than the one period of eighth-grade algebra he teaches every day.

"I guess I always regret that I don't know all the kids better than I do," he said. "That's my 40 minutes of daily recreation. That's my time for me because I don't get much beyond that."

Mr. Frothingham said that he and his wife, Patty, would like to stay in Andover and hope to keep a base here.

"I have been very lucky to be at Pike. I think I hit it at a good time. The school has been very successful," he said. "It's been a great run."

ABC seeks host families for '94-'95

ABC, A Better Chance, which places academically talented, highly motivated students in outstanding secondary schools outside of their own towns, is seeking host families in Andover.

As part of Andover ABC, each girl is assigned a host family. The Andover family plays an important role in the life of the student during her four years here. The girls live in the ABC house on Main Street but once a week they go to their host family for dinner and once a month they spend a week-end living in their host family's home. The student and host family get to know each other very well and in some cases, the relationship lasts long after the student has left Andover.

The role of the host family is to provide a link to the Andover community and to provide each girl with some special attention and opportunities for outings with the family. Host families understand that each girl comes from her own family and in no way does the host family assume a parental role, according to ABC directors.

Host families are screened by the ABC board and the student's families are encouraged to get to know them.

Those who are interested in being a host family for the 1994-'95 academic year can call Susan Borland at 470-3728, or Sandy Levine at 475-7126.

IRS to hold an open house Saturday, 9-4

In an attempt to assist people in filing overdue returns, the IRS will hold an open house Saturday, May 21, at the IRS Service Center, 310 Lowell St., from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Assistance will be available for individuals and businesses who have not filed their 1992 and prior years' tax returns. There will be a staff of tax professionals to prepare delinquent tax returns, take payments and prepare installment agreements, for those who qualify, who cannot afford full payments with the return. State income tax assistance will also be available that day. For further information on the open house call 691-6780.

YMCA has summer memberships

Summer memberships are available at the Andover-North Andover YMCA. They begin June 1 and run through Sept. 15. Summer memberships are available in youth, high school and college, adult, single-parent family and family categories.

Paper seeks those involved in D-day

Any Andover residents who were in the service and involved in D-day, June 6, 1944, the day the Allies invaded Europe in World War II, are asked to call Townsman reporter Don Staruk at 475-1943. He is working on a story related to the 50th anniversary of D-day. Deadline is May 26.

This summer, to celebrate the opening of the Y's new building expansion, all family, adult and high school and college memberships will include Nautilus memberships at no extra charge.

The new Nautilus-fitness center and free weight room are scheduled to open in June.

Prospective members are invited to the Y for a tour and guest visit Monday through Friday, 5:30 a.m.-10 p.m.; Saturday, 6 a.m.-8 p.m.; and Sunday, 2-7 p.m.

Summer family memberships are $160; single-parent family, $125; adults, $125; high school and college, $60; and youth, $30.

Townsman seeks summer interns

The Townsman is looking for summer interns. Applicants should be in college and available to work 20 hours a week. The positions are not paid. They write stories, check facts, proof pages, file and more. If interested call Editor Perry Colmore at 475-1943.

Here's a chance to thank your volunteer

The Townsman is preparing a group of stories about volunteers. In June, the paper will publish brief stories about Andover residents who volunteer for organizations, or people who volunteer for Andover organizations.

The paper asks organizations to nominate one person to be profiled. The person should be an extraordinary volunteer.

Make sure to include the name, address and phone number of the volunteer, and the name of the organization, its address, phone number and the name of a contact person.

Any other information would be helpful: length of volunteer services, description of duties and interesting anecdotes.

Selectmen vote support for 'Field of Dreams' at Rec Park

By Don Staruk

Selectmen Monday night voted unanimously to support the concept of building the "Field of Dreams" teen activities center at Recreation Park. They also voted to make building the center a priority and indicated construction could begin as early as this fall.

During a discussion with members of the Andover Youth Council Monday, and responding to a request by Selectman Larry Larsen for a commitment, Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski said it was possible an architect could designate a site for the activities center by mid-July.

At one point in the discussion, when one student was trying to clarify if something would require Town Meeting approval in April 1995, Mr. Stapczynski said that wasn't the case.

"We may have a building up by next April," if we can get going on it, Mr. Stapczynski said.

Dr. Larsen also said he would like to see the center built by then. Selectman Gerald Silverman said he had been "harassed" this week by people saying construction of the youth center would be delayed until the next generation of kids has come along.

"No. It won't. It can't," Mr. Silverman said.

Selectman Bill Downs said this is the time to consider the building project because of the availability of $30,000 approved at April Town Meeting for engineering and design plans for making improvements at Rec Park and Poms Pond. Mr. Downs said there should be a building at Rec Park to replace the log-cabin-style lodge that burned down on the site in 1978.

Selectman Jim Barenboim, who pushed for immediate action by the board early on in the discussion, proposed the board vote to endorse the idea of building a teen activities center at Rec Park, to direct the town manager and his staff to assist with the project, and to have the project made a priority by the architect hired to design improvement plans for the park. And that is what they did, 5-0.

"I just thought it was absolutely great that they took a stance," Bill Fahey, youth services coordinator, said after the meeting.

The council members were also pleased, according to Mr. Fahey.

"They were psyched - totally pumped up," he said.

Slow start

Selectmen had scheduled Monday night's meeting solely to discuss the Youth Council proposal, but for a while it seemed the discussion was going to peter out. The students had expected various town employees to be on hand for discussion about specific aspects of the project, but none were there. Mr. Silverman asked the council to rehash the plan they presented to the board just last Monday, but council members were more interested in talking about actual planning. Finally, Mr. Barenboim chimed in that, after last week's discussion, he had also expected Mr. Stapczynski to come back from consulting with his staff prepared to say whether a building could be built on the site, how big a building could be built, what the parking considerations were and preliminary cost estimates.

"Those are the kinds of things I hoped could be talked about tonight," Mr. Barenboim said.

Mr. Stapczynski said the location of the building was only one issue. There are a number of locations for a building at the site, but first the uses of the building needed to be determined so the size of the building could be taken into account, he said.

Christine Anderson, AHS senior and council member, said often groups with good intentions burn out because things don't move fast enough. Teens are ready to hold fund-raisers and get the community involved in the project now, she said.

Mr. Stapczynski said the first thing that needs to be done is to get a landscape engineer to do a study to find a place for the building. The town is in the process of doing that for the overall plans for the park, and plans for the location of the building could be included in that.

Town will continue downtown parking permit program

By Don Staruk

The Board of Selectmen Monday night voted to continue for another year the parking-permit program downtown.

The program is aimed at making more parking spaces available on or close to Main Street for customers of downtown businesses by encouraging employees to use more remote parking areas.

One requirement is that applicants must be owners or employees of a business in the downtown. Twenty-eight businesses currently take part in the program.

The 50 permit spaces are set aside at the rear of the two municipal lots, at Park Street Village and Olde Andover Village. The spaces were distributed evenly, 25 in each lot, but board members Monday night voted to reduce the number of reserved spaces in the Park Street lot by seven and increase the number of spaces in the Olde Andover Village lot by eight. That will increase the total to 51 and make more spaces available in the Park Street lot, where they are needed, according to planners and board members.

'This cost ($20 a month) reflects the estimated meter revenues collected at the more frequently used spaces.'

Laura Hill, senior town planner

The spaces were available for $15 a month for the past year. This year the price will go to $20 a month.

"This cost reflects the estimated meter revenues collected at the more frequently used spaces," according to Laura Hill, senior town planner.

The permit reserves a space from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. six days a week. Selectmen discussed opening up those spaces to the public after 10 a.m. if the permit holder wasn't parked by then, which was an effort to make more spaces available downtown. But that proposal was not approved.

Selectman Larry Larsen said he wanted the highest priority given to the activities center.

He said the teens need to know if they can have a building there and where it would be located. He asked Mr. Stapczynski to work with Bob McQuade, Public Works director, on it.

What they want

Mr. Fahey said the new building should have a large function hall, about the same size as the upstairs at Old Town Hall. It should also have a small stage, a small kitchen, a conference room big enough to be used by both youth groups and other groups in the community, office space and bathrooms.

Buzz Stapczynski, town manager, said it would need to be built to state codes, which means it would need handicap access and bathrooms, and an elevator if it had a second floor.

Max Soong, another member of the Youth Council, suggested the group could solicit ideas from the public on what should be included in the building. Mr. Soong said the Youth Council did not portend to represent all young people in town, and he suggested using the Townsmen's What's Up page to solicit ideas and opinions from all kids.

Andover youth "is much more diverse and has a lot more to offer than just us," Mr. Soong said.

Mr. Stapczynski is planning to meet with representatives of the Youth Council and his staff to discuss the proposal in more detail tomorrow, Friday.

"They've got a lot of bright ideas, but we've really got to get them focused," Mr. Stapczynski said of the teens.

Financing

Selectmen are not proposing any money be budgeted for construction of the building at this time. Mr. Silverman said he would encourage council members to solicit volunteer efforts and contributions of supplies and services.

"There are a lot of people very willing to get involved," Mr. Stapczynski said.

The Andover League of Women Voters has already made a donation to the Youth Council for the center. Youth Council members and town officials are considering whether the council may have to incorporate to raise funds for the project.

Plans for the park

Rec Park consists of 190 acres of town-owned land and is located off Abbot Street. The site does have water and sewer.

Mr. Stapczynski said Monday that other groups have talked about adding sports fields and other facilities at Rec Park for at least the last two years, and various groups have studied potential uses for Rec Park in the past.

Planners studied it in the 1970s. It was included in a study of all recreational facilities in town done by the Andover League of Women Voters in 1989, and the Conservation Commission includes it in annual reports on all open space in town.

The recent Town Meeting, in April, approved $1 million for capital improvements to outdoor facilities in town, which included $30,000 for engineering and design plans for making improvements at Rec Park and Pumps Pond.

Jim Bamford, director of parks, cemeteries and forests for the town, said preliminary plans for improvements include adding six new ball fields - one regulation baseball field, one softball field and four soccer/football fields - and several sports courts, for volleyball and handball and the like. It also would include upgrades to existing facilities, lighting and parking, and would designate two or three potential building sites. These plans were already underway before the Andover Youth Council proposed building an activities center at the site, Mr. Bamford said.

Mr. Bamford met Tuesday morning at Rec Park with engineers, looking to bid on the design project. Mr. Stapczynski said the town could award an architect a contract for the design plans by the end of June. He also said designating a location for the youth activities center could be made a priority for the engineers.

Mr. Bamford warned that this building needs to have good planning.

"This is not some tree house that they're building in the neighborhood," he said.

People compare the effort to the building of Dragon's Lair playground at Bancroft School, Mr. Bamford said. That was all done through a community effort. But it was designed by a professional architectural firm and four architects were on site for the entire three days supervising every detail of its construction, he said.

"This thing is bigger than Dragon's Lair," Mr. Bamford said.

He said an incredible organization effort is going to be needed and suggested the Youth Council seek the expertise of the Andona Society, which Mr. Bamford said is comprised of the best people around at getting things organized.

Seeking classification-study volunteers

Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski is still looking for at least one more resident to serve on the group being organized to study the town's tax classification process with the goal of making recommendations on how it can be improved.

The study committee will consist of six persons, three from the business community and three residents.

Those representing business interests are Greg Doyle, president of Doyle Lumber Co. on River Road, Frank Orlandella of Hewlett-

The old building

Mr. Stapczynski said the League of Women Voters recently questioned the feasibility of rebuilding the lodge that burned down on the site in 1978. The fire was fueled by propane that was stored in the building and only the cement pad and fireplace survived the flames.

Selectman Jerry Silverman said the building used to be a nice site for weekend barbecues and such. But Mr. Bamford disagreed with that sentiment. Mr. Bamford said people like to remember it as a nice place for cozy fires, or where they had a wedding, but to his recollection it did not have heat and was rarely used. During 1974 the building was used as a warehouse for old furniture and the like "for weeks and months" prior to a recycling auction held there without anyone paying much notice. It just wasn't used that much, he said.

"Peoples' memory of this thing is not quite as accurate as the reality of it was," Mr. Bamford said.

Mr. Fahey said the kids would like something that is "homey," possibly a wooden structure with white painted cedar shingles. He said kids don't want something built of brick that resembles a school.

Mr. Bamford said he isn't sure if it's feasible to have a wooden structure for that purpose and in that location.

As a side note, none of the council members who spoke Monday night could pronounce Mr. Stapczynski's last name. At least once he was referred to as "Mr. Buzz."

BUSINESS

Chamber plans a Toast to Andover

In recognition of the new businesses that continue to make the Andover business community thrive, the Andover Chamber of Commerce will host its third annual Toast to Andover on Thursday, May 26, from 6 to 9 p.m. at Old Town Hall on Main Street.

Tickets are $10 and are available by calling the Chamber at 686-0900.

"When the Massachusetts miracle died, rather than ringing its hands, Andover went to work to strengthen its business community," said Michael Morris, Chamber president. "Andover's Chamber and town government have done an outstanding job at bringing a significant amount of small business as well as major corporations to the area, especially over the past several years. We have a great deal to celebrate."

In fact, the Chamber invites people, "Next time you're walking in downtown Andover, take a look around. Almost every store front is filled, just about everything you need can be found within their doors, and the sidewalks are bustling with people who live and work in Andover. In addition to retail businesses, Andover's manufacturing, industrial and research base continues to expand."

According to Nancy McBride, chairwoman for the toast, close to 300 people are expected to turn out to salute the approximately 45 new businesses that will be recognized at the event.

"Toast to Andover is one way of thanking new businesses for choosing our community and showing them how much they're appreciated," said Ms. McBride, of Park Street Travel. "In addition to welcoming our new busi-

SCHOOLTALK

Students from South Elementary School attended an after-school Rocket Camp.

Dave Heshion, a scientist formerly with the Museum of Science in Boston, spent four hours teaching the kindergarten-through-fifth-grade students how to construct a model rocket.

Earlier last month, Mr. Heshion presented a program on the history and development of the rocket as part of the PTO-funded enrichment program. Students were able to try on a space suit and examine space food and other articles used in space travel. Mr. Heshion opened Rocket Camp with brief highlights of the program and a discussion of three forces affecting a rocket's performance: gravity, friction and power. The concepts were presented in an entertaining manner, allowing the children to easily understand them.

The students then spent most of the afternoon constructing model rockets from cardboard tubes, a few plastic parts and Elmer's glue. At day's end each child took a turn to launch his or her rocket into the sky over South School's playing field.

Spar and Spindle Girl Scout Council has camping adventures for its "Summer of Champions" camping program. Any girl, Girl Scout or non-scout entering grades 1-12 is welcome to attend. Most day camps provide two-week sessions Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Resident camp offers the opportunity to stay overnight and attend a one-week or two-week session.

New this year is a one-week day camp program at Camp Paradise for girls entering grades 1-3.

Day camp is geared not only to first-time campers but to experienced campers who want to improve and expand their camping skills. Day

FINANCIAL STRATEGIES

FUNDS ON THE MOVE

Employees who are changing jobs should pay particular attention to how they handle their employer-sponsored retirement plans. If the plan allows it, some employees may opt to leave their retirement funds with their former employers. It may then be switched to a new employer's plan later on. Another option is to roll retirement money into an IRA Rollover, making sure to have the rollover completed internally, by means of proper paperwork, with no actual distribution to the employee. Failure to complete this process properly, or take an actual distribution of the funds, results in 20% withholding by the company retirement plan. This rule has been in effect since January, 1983. In any case, the distribution should not be put into an existing IRA. Doing so forfeits the ability to move the retirement funds from the former employer's plan to one sponsored by a future employer, and could pose additional tax-related difficulties down the road. We at BAYSTATE FINANCIAL handle retirement plan distributions frequently and well. Please let us put our expertise to work with you.

At BAYSTATE FINANCIAL SERVICES, we offer services in five distinct areas: investments, pension and retirement, life insurance and estate planning, group benefits, and fee-based financial planning. Please give me a call today to discuss your objectives and how proper money management can help you achieve them. BAYSTATE FINANCIAL SERVICES is located at 10 Essex St., here in Andover. Please call us at 475-9212. For your convenience we also have a Boston office at 100 N. Washington St. (617-523-4500). I am a Chartered Financial Consultant and written and verbal references are available upon request.

HINT: Employees can take periodic payments from their retirement plans without a 10 percent penalty if distributions continue for five years or until age 59 1/2. Your tax advisor should also be consulted regarding this distribution.

Youth Council gets League of Women Voters support in 24-Hour Relay Challenge at AHS

The League of Women Voters will sponsor the Andover Youth Council team in the first annual 24-Hour Relay Challenge June 11-12 at Lovely Field, next to the High School.

This relay, a celebration of community spirit, benefiting youth and intergenerational activities, is a way to begin the year, during which the League hopes to promote a number of activities that will develop a heightened sense of belonging and civic responsibility in Andover.

For some months now, a committee of League members, integrating people from other groups in town, has been working on plans to highlight various community values as monthly themes to explore.

This project, which they call "Know Your Town," is set to kick off in September with the theme "Reach Out."

The League wants to encourage neighborhood block parties and other ways of reaching out to each other. The central event, scheduled for mid-September, will give Andover's many civic, cultural and other organizations a chance to share information about themselves at a gathering at Old Town Hall.

"As we begin to think about celebrating 350 years of history in Andover, the League is eager to initiate this special year of getting to "Know Your Town," said a group spokeswoman.

Rep. Meehan will sponsor info night Tuesday for high school students considering U.S. service academies U.S. Rep. Marty Meehan, D-Lowell, will sponsor an information night next week for high school students considering attending one of the U.S. service academies.

Representatives from the U.S. Naval (Annapolis), Military (West Point) and Air Force academies, as well as a representative from the ROTC, will participate in the forum set for Tuesday, May 24, from 6:30 to 8 p.m. at Lowell High School.

The forum is targeted for high school juniors, many of whom will apply to post-secondary programs next fall and are considering a career in the military. It will provide them with an opportunity to learn about the academies' application process and requirements.

As a member of Congress, Rep. Meehan can nominate up to 10 Fifth District high school seniors for acceptance to each of the three academies.

A congressional nomination is considered the key to opening the door for admission to these institutions.

For more information, contact Rep. Meehan's Lowell office at 459-0101.

Sometimes the shrub you want, isn't the shrub you want.

Before you go out and buy a shrub, make sure it's the right shrub for you. You probably already know to ask about light, water and other common plant requirements. But shrubs can be tricky. There are a lot more questions — some critical — that should be answered before you start digging holes.

Questions, Questions And Still More Questions.

How close to the road will you plant it? Do they salt those roads at winter? Some shrubs are very tolerant of salt and sand. Others won't be very happy come Spring.

How close to the house, fence or pathway will you put it? How much maintenance are you realistically able to give it. What plants are you planning to place next to it? The answers to these and many other questions can significantly impact the type of shrub that will work best for you. One that will be healthy. One that will really add to the look of your landscape — now, and for years to come.

So Many Shrubs, So Little Time.

Chances are you don't have the time to learn everything there is to know about shrubs. No problem. Simply visit the Mahoney's nearest you and tell us about your landscape. We'll listen to what you have to say, ask a few questions about your overall gardening plans, and recommend the shrubs that are best suited for particular needs. This is, after all, what 35 years experience is really good for.

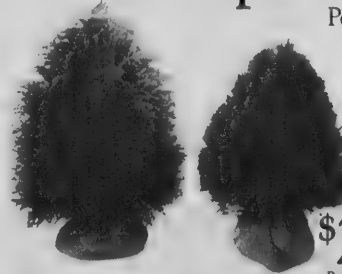

Now Comes The Fun Part.

If you've never been to Mahoney's before, you will be amazed how many different varieties we have, in stock, to choose from. Azaleas, boxwood, hydrangea, viburnums, hollies, yew and thousands of others. All hardy. All disease-resistant. And, like all Mahoney's plants and products, value priced.

So if you have better things to do than write a thesis on shrubbery, come to Mahoney's, buy the right shrubs, and start planting.

DEEP ROOT FERTILIZATION FOR TREES & SHRUBS

Trees and shrubs within a lawn area or planting beds need to be fertilized on a regular basis. Why? Because the natural decomposition of leaves, and the ultimate use of these nutrients by plants, is eliminated when we rake the leaves. To compensate for this nutrient deficiency, we add fertilizer in a form trees and shrubs can use. A plant that is nutrient rich has healthy foliage & roots and produces beautiful flowers and/or berries. Also, a healthy plant is insect and disease resistant.

Anna Katrina Minkinen, daughter of Allan and Leena Minkinen of 24 Dale St., was awarded a Fulbright

Anna Katrina Minkinen

Scholarship to study in the University of Art and Design in Helsinki, Finland. Minkinen will study film production and work on a film project. In addition, she will work part-time as an assistant to Finnish film director and producer Anssi Manttari.

The Fulbright Scholarship program, conceived in 1946, is an educational grant under the international exchange scholarship program created to increase mutual understanding between the peoples of the United States and other countries. A candidate for a Fulbright grant must have a bachelor of arts degree or its equivalent, be proficient in the language of the country in which she/he wishes to study and have general maturity and scholarship competence. Candidates are selected by the U.S. Government Fulbright Committee and the Fulbright Committee of the host country.

Ms. Minkinen, a 1990 graduate of Phillips Academy, will graduate from Brown University this month with a double major degree, honors English and semiotics. She is a member of Phi Beta Kappa of Rhode Island.

The University of Michigan spring commencement ceremonies were held April 29-30 in Ann Arbor, Mich. Three students from Andover received their degrees: Lesley Elizabeth Brammer of 21 Keystone Way, bachelor of arts; Alison Heather Climo of 129 Salem St., master's degree in social work; Bryan D. Poisson of 14 Russett Lane, master's degree in architecture.

Laura K. Brink, daughter of Janet and Michael Brink of 10 Olympia Way, is examining the epic hero in Milton's Paradise Lost for her senior honors thesis in English at St.

Lawrence University in Canton, N.Y.

The 1990 graduate of Andover High School is an English literature major.

For her thesis, Ms. Brink applied the criteria and background of the epic hero in Homer's The Iliad and The Odyssey to Milton's work.

Ms. Brink, who is interested in pursuing a degree in educational administration following graduation, is president of the English department honorary society and vice president for social advancement of the Pi Beta Phi sorority. She also studied in London for a semester, through St. Lawrence's International Education Program.

A resident program is offered at Camp Runnels in Pelham, N.H. Girls may choose general camp programs or specialty programs, including sailing, canoeing, backpacking, biking, arts and sports.

Four of the 17 juniors and seniors inducted into the Brooks School chapter of the Cum Laude Society this year are from Andover. The following local students were added to the membership rolls in a ceremony held on campus April 29: juniors Anthony Correnti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Correnti Sr.; Elizabeth Kyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert S. Kyle; Emily Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David M. Rose; and senior Nehal Thakkar, son of Dr. and Mrs. P.K. Thakkar.

The Cum Laude Society was founded in 1906 to give students in secondary schools the same recognition for academic achievement as that given to other accomplishments. The society's motto of "Excellence, Justice, Honor" expresses the character expected of the students chosen for induction into the Cum Laude Society each year.

A chapter may elect not more than 20 percent of the senior class and 10 percent of the junior class members who have demonstrated academic excellence in the college preparatory curriculum. At Brooks, the minimum eligibility requirement for membership consideration is an 82 average for seniors and an 87 average overall for students in their junior year.

Bishop Fenwick High School announced that two Andover students have been named to the honor roll for the third quarter. They are: freshman Erica Gallinski and junior Carolyn Ragone, both second honors.

Hundreds of sixth-graders from throughout Massachusetts - members of the "Smoke-Free Class of 2000" - gathered May 3 at the Statehouse in Boston for a brown-bag "power lunch" with their state senators and representatives.

Doherty Middle School represented Andover with four sixth-graders. Erica Tebbetts and Emily Rice delivered a peanut butter and jelly sandwich to Rep. Gary Coon, R-Andover, with whom they discussed the smoking-prevention activities of Kids for Kids, a community service group at the school.

Dave Guertin and Ted DeInnocenti talked about the benefits of youth programs and the job of a politician with Sen. John O'Brien, D-Andover, over granola bars and apples.

Prior to the lunch, a limited number of sixth-grade voices were heard at an assembly of all attending. Erica Tebbetts' voice was among those. She spoke proudly of the work Andover and Kids for Kids has done in tobacco-use prevention. Report cards on this subject were issued to all communities. Before the passage of Andover's tobacco bylaw the town received a "D". Since then its grade has improved to an "A".

"This is something for which all of Andover can be proud. The entire event was a great opportunity for these students to learn the power of their voices," organizers said.

Realtor Johanna Webster participated in the recent Career Day held at West Middle School. The event provided students with the opportunity to speak with professionals from a variety of fields about future career paths. Ms. Webster's advice to the students who surrounded her table was to first pursue a college education. The general knowledge that they would obtain would prove useful in any of their future endeavors, she told the students.

By Christine McCarthy
South School PTO

This spring, students and teachers at South Elementary School have participated in a creative learning experience. Just as the troubadours of old put the news of their time into songs and poems, Judith Steinbergh and Victor Cockburn, known as Troubadour, helped South's students learn to put their information into poems and songs.

Victor and Judith have been together since 1981, conducting residencies and workshops throughout the Boston area. They teach students how to draw on their own experiences and on information learned in their curriculum to create poetry and songs. The pieces they create reinforce their learning, endorse creative expression, and illustrate how life, art and academics intertwine. At a time when educators increasingly confirm the importance of art and music in student development, while school systems continue to cut these subjects, Troubadour represents an opportunity to experience what some have called "another side of learning."

Troubadour's residency at South began March 31. For an hour in the morning, parents conducted classes so that teachers could become students. During the workshop, teachers participated in singing and acting out poems as well as writing songs. Victor and Judith gave pointers on how to use this creative process to enhance both language arts and other curriculum areas. "Music stimulates you to hear," says Victor, so "songs are wonderful for passing on information." The rhythm of the music helps us remember the words, which helps us remember the information. Victor also led the teachers in composing a blues song and discussed using this form in the classroom. "You can use things that happen around you and transform them into comments about the world or about life. Then, you can move into your curriculum."

Judith demonstrated "using poems as a way to learn to love language." In elementary grades, she recommended beginning by using all five senses to describe a person or thing. From sensory description, she moves on to use figurative language: comparison, metaphor, and personification.

In April, Judith took these methods into individual classrooms for workshops with second and third grade students. She began by reading and talking about poems written by professional writers and by students from other schools. Then she helped the children come up with examples of sense description and figurative language. For example, Judith suggested, "If your brother was a gigantic wind, what would you be?" The children provided the answers a kite, a bird, a cloud, an eagle. Next, she set the task for each child to write a poem about a family member using the techniques they had practiced. "We want to paint a picture of our feelings," she said.

Elizabeth McKim, a Troubadour associate and co-author with Judith of a book about teaching poetry to children, also conducted classroom poetry workshops. Her work with the morning kindergarten class began with rhythm, clapping, and movement. Then the class created a poem by "thinking of one thing you love and one sentence about it." Elizabeth collected the sentences and showed the children that they could write an "I Love" poem. "Everything has a little poetry in it," Elizabeth continued, "even your name. Listen to the music in the sounds in your name." By the time they had passed around half the circle, the children were taking the lead, clapping out the rhythms in their names and providing characteristic movements on their own.

The same enthusiasm inspired the songwriting workshops that Victor led. After singing traditional songs and some from other schools, Victor talked about songs passing on information. To start work on a song about animals in Mary Popovich's class, he asked the students what they know about animals from their studies and what current issues are. The class wrote a song about saving endangered species that inspired Victor to compose a special tune.

Throughout their work with the students, Judith, Victor and Elizabeth demonstrated great respect for the children's statements. Their words were always accepted, then adjusted or reworked to teach a point about poetry or song writing. When a student shared his or her poem, Judith always used praise and pointing out what worked well as a form of gentle critiquing. Victor also helped his classes adjust a lyric that wasn't working, rather than criticize.

The May 5 concert that closed the Troubadour residency also demonstrated this respect and affection for the children's work. The performance included some songs and poems written by professionals, but contained many of the works written during the workshops. Victor softly accompanied Judith's reading of the poems on several folk instruments: kalimba and talking drum from Africa, rainstick from Brazil, and guitar. Students sang with the folk songs and cheered their friends' poems. Valerie Rurack's and Ms. Popovich's classes sang the songs they had written. Throughout their performance, the Troubadour members expressed their admiration and love for the children's work and communicated that to the young authors.

Many teachers have already incorporated lessons from the Troubadour workshops into their class work. Janet Rigazio's class wrote a blues song, "Monday Morning Blues." Delores Pelc's class wrote poems for Mother's Day.

The Troubadour residency was funded by the South PTO and by the Massachusetts Arts Lottery. "This is a wonderful program," said Gwen Hendricks, who coordinates the South School Enrichment Program. "I would love to have Troubadour back next year to work with the rest of the children in the classroom."

Rain or shine, it's Clown Town in The Park this Saturday

The Andona Society will host its annual Clown Town, rain or shine, this Saturday, May 21, from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in The Park, at the corner of Chestnut and Bartlet streets, next to Memorial Auditorium.

Parents and children will have the opportunity to "clown around" in face paint, go on carnival rides, have their pictures taken in front of the very popular purple-dinosaur backdrop, play kids' games, and to purchase penny candy, colorful balloons, and Clown Town crafts in a carnival atmosphere. Again this year, there will be pony rides and hayrides in the back of Doherty Middle School.

At 10:30 a.m., Silverado Athletic Club will sponsor "Fit Kids" near the Whittier Street area of the park, featuring stretching, step- and aerobic activities for children of all ages.

Brian Corcoran, a local children's entertainer, will offer a special performance - an early lunchtime sing-along - near the eating table area by the bandstand at 11:30 a.m.

The big show in Doherty Middle School Auditorium will feature the Confetti Kids, under the direction of Josie Walker, in a musical dance and variety show. Show times are 1 and 3 p.m.; tickets are $1 and may be purchased at the door or from any Andona member. Handicapped-access to Memorial Auditorium is by the Bartlet Street entrance, near town offices.

Clown Town's big show again this year will feature the Confetti Kids, under the direction of Josie Walker, in a musical dance and variety show in Doherty Auditorium. Saturday's show times are 1 and 3 p.m. Here Faran Krentcil triumphantly finishes a number during the Confetti Kids' recent performance at the AHS Band Play-athon.

Again this year, the Celtic Ball Boy/Girl raffle will allow a lucky child to be a ball boy/girl at a Celtic game, receive a Celtic jacket and meet the players. Tickets on the parquet floor, for the parents are included.

Other items to be raffled include four Red Sox seats for the 1994 season, two Patriots tickets for the 1994-'95 season, a $200 gift certificate to BJ's Wholesale Club, and free sports passes to all soccer, football and basketball games at Andover High School for the 1994-'95 school year.

Hot dogs, cheeseburgers, hamburgers, veggie pockets, and sausage-and-pepper subs are available for lunch in the park. Desserts include ice cream, slush, popcorn and cotton candy. A bakery table will be stocked with homemade pies, cakes, fudge, breads and cookies. A white elephant table will sell treasures to young and old.

The Andona Society, a non-profit women's fund-raising organization founded in 1952, is currently recruiting new members. Information on memberships will be available at Clown Town at the membership table.

All money raised this year will again be used to benefit many Andover youth activities. Organizations receiving funds include Andover High School athletic, civic and cultural groups, as well as local community organizations such as swimming, skiing, Little League, etc., that provide services to the youth of Andover.

Clown Town chairwomen this year are: Debbie Beaucaire, Kathy Black, Kathy Ghandchi and Patti Sciolla.

Clown Town-goers urged to heed all posted parking signs

Clown Town, the Andona Society's annual fund-raiser and community event scheduled for Saturday, brings pleasure to children of all ages and their families. It is an event that draws on volunteer support, the goodwill of the neighbors surrounding The Park, where the event is held, and the cooperation of the many people who attend Clown Town.

This cooperation includes complying with parking regulations and temporary street closings, which the Andona Society has arranged with the police and the town. Respect public safety and traffic regulations, members ask.

These regulations have been put in place to protect public safety. The five minutes that a parent or visitor parks in a no-parking spot may be the very same five minutes that an emergency might require access to The Park or to a resident's home, they said.

Volunteers for the event and Andona Society members have been asked to arrange for car-pools to allow for increased parking, according to Andona president Joan Duff.

The Andona Society asks participants to do the same. Come with neighbors or friends, and contribute to a day where the police, the Andona Society and the town work together to promote a safe and fun day that benefits the youth of Andover, they said.

Due to safety concerns, cars cannot be parked on the park side of Chestnut Street. Cars should be parked in the town parking lots during Clown Town. [See sidebar above.]

◀ Last Saturday, the Andover Letter Carriers, in conjunction with the U.S. Postal Service, the AFL-CIO and the United Way of America, participated in the second annual National Food Drive conducted by the National Association of Letter Carriers. Town residents were asked to leave non-perishable food at their mailboxes and their letter carriers would pick it up and deliver it to the local food pantries. Last year, letter carriers collected more than 12 million pounds of food for the underfed and the hungry. It is anticipated that this year, letter carriers will have collected more than 40 million pounds of food. Shown here is the staff of the Andover post office with some of the food collected for local pantries. [See related story on page 36.]

Volunteers needed to assist with designer showhouse

Several hundred volunteers will be needed when the Nesmith Designer Showhouse in Lowell opens to the public July 1 for six weeks. The fund-raising project will benefit the Middlesex Community College Foundation Inc.

New officers elected at Creative Living's annual meeting

More than 60 members of Creative Living Inc. attended the group's annual meeting held recently at the Lanam Club. Creative Living Inc. is a local non-profit group of community members providing innovative residences for adult retarded citizens who currently live at home with family members in the Merrimack Valley.

The agenda included the election and reelection of officers. They are: Luan Giannone, president; Brian Hardy, vice president, Lucille Giannone, treasurer; and Joyce Thompson, secretary/clerk.

Creative Living welcomed new members to its board of directors: Leslie Foote, JoAnn Giuffrida, Nancy Griffin, Keith Hughes, Paul Pakos, Steve Pellerine and Frank Sablone. The election of directors to terms of one-, two- and three years completed the agenda.

Marty Krauss of the Heller Graduate School, Brandeis University, shared her research and thoughts on "Aging Families of Children with Mental Retardation" and the impact of lifelong caregiving.

Ann Forts, recently re-elected to the national board of directors of the National Down Syndrome Congress, also spoke. Ms. Forts has Down Syndrome and considers herself an "up" person who believes it is very important to encourage all people, including those with disabilities, to lead full and productive lives.

Also at the meeting were the many volunteers of Classic Threads, a retail store located at 447 Essex St. in Lawrence, which contributes to the goals of Creative Living Inc. through the sale of first-quality men's, women's and children's wearing apparel and jewelry. Volunteers Jeanette Hartling and Joyce Sapientza were honored for their many hours of hard work and dedication.

Two special presentations were made. The first was to Gary Gaudreau

WHO PAYS THE POINTS?

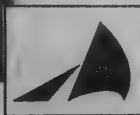

When home buyers shop for financing, they must consider two important factors. What rate of interest does the lender charge and how many points must they pay to secure the loan? Each point is equal to one percent of the mortgage amount. If you are selling a home, your buyers may ask you to share the points with them.

Who pays the points is negotiable. When a contract is presented, your Realtor will go over the price and terms to help you calculate the net price you will receive. If the offer is attractive and will net you the amount you want, paying one or more points might be a good idea. If the offer has a low sales price or risky contingencies, however, you might make a counter offer that increases your net profit on the sale by either eliminating the points from your selling costs or increasing the pay. In some cases, buyers with limited cash need some assistance from the sellers to make the transaction work. Your Realtor will help you to look at the total picture and make your decision based on your bottom line, as well as the buyer's overall qualifications.

If you are considering a move, contact the professionals at Century 21 Carriage House. Call us at 475-1243, or stop by our office at 10 High Street.

Workshop concerns addictions

The Franciscan Center on River Road will offer "The Addictive Personality and Spiritual Development" workshop this Saturday, May 21, from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. The presenters will be Romeo Bonsaint, S.C., Ph.D., and John Hamilton, C.F.X., M.A.

The growing influence of 12-step programs on American culture formation reflects a growing realization of the connection between addictive behavior and spiritual development, organizers said. This workshop will examine the nature of addiction and the addictive personality. It will then explore "our need to recognize the deepest aspirations and yearnings of our spirits if we are to overcome our tendencies to addictive behavior and, in the process, create transcendent dispositions which will allow these aspirations to find their proper direction and expression," organizers said.

The main objectives of the workshop will be:

- To recognize the relationship between addictive behavior and the repression of the deepest aspirations of the human spirit;
- To identify ways of fostering those spiritual dispositions that allow for the recognition and expression of our spiritual aspirations.

Consider These Thoughts

by Garry A. Burke

FORMING ATTITUDES

Anyone who doubts that a person's attitudes are formed in childhood and in the home should read the words of an anonymous "philosopher": "Education does not commence with the alphabet; it begins with a mother's look, with a father's nod of approbation or a sign of reproof; with a sister's gentle pressure of the hand, or a brother's noble act of forbearance; with handfuls of flowers in green dells, on hills, and daisy meadows; with bird's nest admired but not touched; with creeping ants, and almost imperceptible emmets; with humming bees and glass beehives; with pleasant walks in shady lanes, and with thoughts directed in sweet and kindly tones and words to nature, to beauty, to acts of benevolence, to deeds of virtue, and to the source of all good - to God Himself!"

Childhood is probably the most influential time in our lives. If you have children and have recently experienced a death in the family, now is the time to be there for them so that they will understand what death is and what it means. For more information about talking to your children about death and dealing with the questions that will inevitably arise, contact BURKE FUNERAL HOME. We can be reached at 475-5200 and are located at 390 North Main Street.

SOCIAL NOTEBOOK

The Merrimack River runs through it — and Source to the Sea seeks volunteers

The Merrimack River Watershed Council invites the public to join its celebration of the river that runs through our lives — the Merrimack River. The MRWC will host a watershed festival June 2-18. Special events will be linked by a 16-day canoe trip from the headwaters in the White Mountains to the estuary at Plum Island in Newburyport. Boating excursions, nature hikes, concerts, seminars, cultural exchanges and many more activities are planned.

The group seeks a core group of canoeists who can paddle the entire distance; people to lead and canoe on the day trips; volunteers to lead special events or help out with fund-raising and donations; members of the public to attend the events; people to participate in clean-ups; and other organizers. Businesses are needed to sponsor teams for river clean-ups and day trips.

Source to the Sea is sponsored by Malden Mills Public Service of New Hampshire, Coors, and the Merrimack River Initiative. Anyone who has an event or project that could tie in to Source to the Sea, should call Leslie Formby at 363-5777, or (603) 896-4374.

Documenting diversity

"Collecting and Preserving Community Records: Documenting Diversity" workshop will be held Saturday, June 4, from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at Lowell National Historic Park Special Events Center, second floor, Boot Mills, 400 Foot of John St., Lowell.

Northeast Document Conservation Center, the Lowell Historic Preservation Commission and the Lowell National Historic Park have sponsored the workshop to provide information on how to preserve collections of photographs, documents, drawings and other historical records on paper.

The registration fee of $7.50 covers lunch, information materials and sample preservation supplies. Pre-registration is required. Call Pat McCarthy at the Northeast Document Conservation Center at 470-1010.

The purpose of this program is to broaden awareness of the importance of family and community records and to provide information on how to take care of them. Families, churches, fraternal and community organizations and other small groups contribute an important part of history. Organizations and individuals can make a difference in the version of the present that our great-grandchildren will see by preserving their documents, photographs, drawings and historical records.

Karen Motylewski, director of field service for the Northeast Document Conservation Center in Andover, a nationally known source of preservation and conservation assistance, will chair a program that will explore the importance and uses of documents and photographs in museums and archives; strategies for preserving them; and how community groups and institutions can work together to build collections that represent the diversity of modern communities.

This project is funded in part by the Massachusetts Cultural Council, a state agency which also receives support from the National Endowment for the Arts.

Pike School students make connections to the community

First-graders at Pike School last Friday donated several boxes of nonperishable food to the postal carriers' food drive. The donation served as a bridge to illustrate to the youngsters a connection between their classroom study and what goes on in the community.

"Plants We Eat" was a unit of study incorporating many areas of learning. In art class the first-graders constructed a bulletin board tracing the journey of plants from the garden to the market. As part of math class, youngsters became familiar enough with fractions to adapt recipes. They made vegetable soup and baked carrot buns.

As a science project, they grew herbs, which they potted and gave to their mothers as Mother's Day gifts.

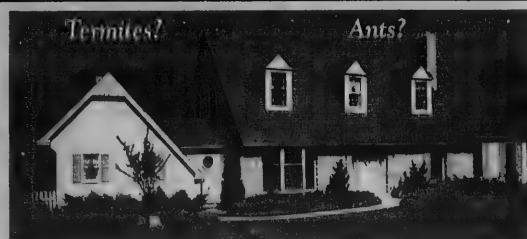

The first-graders brought nonperishables from home to set up a food store in their classrooms. Using real coins, boys and girls acted as storekeepers, simulating the sale of things to each other and learning how to make change.

The completion of this unit coincided with the postal carriers' food drive and enabled the youngsters to incorporate their classroom exercise in a community activity.

Pike School first-graders donated several boxes of nonperishable food to the postal carriers' food drive. With letter carrier Frankie Byrne are, from left, Tommy Arrigg, Katie Koh, Christopher Magnin and Kate Lauderdale. ►

High School, and took Mr. Lague's job as music director at Doherty Middle School.

Started a cappella

Mr. Gould taught two years at the Middle School in Methuen before he was hired here in 1959. Before that he was in the Navy and at college. He has a bachelor's degree in education from Northern Arizona College and a master's in music from Boston University.

There was an all-girls choir already in place at the High School but he was hired to get boys involved. He also started the a cappella choir at the High School.

"Then I started the Madrigal Singers," he said.

The Madrigal Singers are a select group of 20 singers.

He convinced the school to buy a set of hand bells and started a hand-bell choir, which has since won several competitions.

His first love: church

"The church has always been my first love, even though it was only a part-time position," Mr. Gould said. "I'm a PK - a preacher's kid. Right from the beginning I knew that was what I was going to do with my life."

He learned how to play the piano so he could learn the organ. He started as music director at South Church in 1958 and still plays the organ there. In the beginning he directed the adult choirs. He also directed the children's choirs at the church, but has since turned them over to Sue Spollet.

He started the hand-bell choir at the church prior to starting one at the High School and, when he later started the one at the High School, he would lug the bells back and forth until he convinced the school to invest in a set of bells.

When asked about memorable moments, Mr. Gould laughed when he remembered one performance with the hand bells at the school.

The hand bells are expensive and they can crack if dropped. In the middle of one performance a female student knocked one of her bells off her table.

As he watched, she caught the bell in mid air and replaced it on the table without ever missing a note.

Highlights of his careers

Mr. Gould said there were several appreciable moments along the way, not the least of which was the annual major orchestral production at the church. His final one occurred last weekend, during which he directed the South Church sanctuary choir in Giacomo Puccini's Messa di Gloria.

"To be able to do that - to have a choir that is able to do that - that's something that's very special. Not many churches can accomplish that. Music at South Church is very special. It has always been."

A group from church once performed the Requiem Mass by John Rudder, a well-known contemporary English composer. After the performance, they were invited to take part with a larger group in performing the Requiem at Carnegie Hall in New York City with Mr. Rudder conducting.

"I remember walking off the stage and saying to myself, 'It doesn't get any better than that.'"

That wasn't his only performance at Carnegie Hall. While studying at Boston University, he performed with the BU choir there with Leopold Stokowski conducting. That same group also performed at Symphony Hall in Boston with Leopold Stokowski conducting again.

Teacher of year

Mr. Gould was honored as teacher of the year by Tufts University in 1983 when the school asked its students to nominate a teacher who had made an impression on them.

"Jerry James, who was an ABC student in Andover, said I was the first white person who ever trusted him and put faith in him."

Mr. James was a senior at Tufts in 1983.

Mr. Gould recalled another ABC student from Philadelphia. When the chorus went to Philadelphia to perform, he made sure that student had a solo to sing and arranged for the student's mother to go to the concert.

Travel with choir

Mr. Gould took many groups of students on trips to perform, in places such as Philadelphia, Washington, D.C., and Florida, and the various groups won many titles and medals.

"These have been very good experiences," Mr. Gould said. "We sang on the steps of the Capitol."

The kids would not only perform in the big cities, but would also take in the local culture, such as visiting the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia and touring the monuments and museums in Washington. One night, while a group was visiting the Lincoln Memorial, they spontaneously broke into Battle Hymn of the Republic.

A ranger watched the whole scene evolve and, after it was all over, came up to them and said, "You're not supposed to do that you know."

"But she let it happen. She let us finish," Mr. Gould said.

Mr. Gould said his wife, Lois, was always along on the trips, usually in the role of chaperone. One night in Philadelphia, after the kids won a gold medal, Ms. Gould said she didn't want anything to spoil it - so she slept in the hallway all night.

On another trip to Philadelphia, the kids started organizing a mock wedding between two of the choir members. Before it was over, it had blossomed into a full-fledged ceremony and moved into a function hall at the hotel. A member of another choir sang and all the judges and hotel employees were either watching or taking part.

out the leg holes, Mr. Gould said.

Everyone got a great kick out of it, he said.

Low light

One bad experience Mr. Gould recalled was a music festival a group from the High School was to attend in Framingham.

The group had worked very hard preparing for the festival. It was a Saturday and after they warmed up in the school, he told them to go out and get on the buses. But there were no buses. There had been a missed communication somewhere and no buses were available. While he worked the phones trying to find alternative transportation, the kids sat outside. But it was all to no avail. Finally, it was too late to go, and they just went home.

"We didn't go - we missed it."

J. Everett Collins

"One of the great gifts in my life has been to work with Everett Collins."

The late J. Everett Collins, for whom the Collins Center at the High School is named, had been an insurance salesman and state legislator before he retired.

"His first love was music," Mr. Gould said, and on the side he started the Andover male choir and the Andover Choral Society. Every year for 55 years, Mr. Collins put on a performance of Handel's Messiah at Christmas time.

"The last one being the year the Collins Center opened."

After Mr. Collins' retirement, "He came in every day and worked with all the choral groups," Mr. Gould said. "He taught me so much about depth and feeling and from the heart - it wasn't in the studies that you get at school."

Mr. Collins let Mr. Gould share the conducting of the Messiah and the last year Mr. Collins was involved, Mr. Gould couldn't get him to pin down ahead of time what parts each was to conduct. Mr. Collins had him start off and after the first piece, Mr. Gould looked to Mr. Collins, who waved for him to continue. After the second piece, Mr. Gould again looked to Mr. Collins and was again waved on.

"He fell asleep by the third piece so I ended up doing the whole thing."

Some of his stars

A few of Mr. Gould's former students have gone on to performance arts.

Mike Chiklis, AHS class of 1982 and the star of the television series The Commish, sang in the choir with the Madrigal Singers and was in some of the school's musicals, including Anything Goes and Oklahoma.

Jane Cormier, who organizes the local Operafest, is also a former student. She has played several operatic roles, including a performance in Phantom of the Opera in Europe.

"There are a number who are music teachers or who are involved in the arts in various places," Mr. Gould said.

Heading south

My greatest support through all this has been my family," Mr. Gould said.

He and his wife have three daughters. Karen Smith and her husband, Loyal, live in Nashua with their two children, Jeffrey and Jennifer. Laurie Albanese and her husband, Gary, live in Haverhill. And Kimberly Gould, a singer, lives in Andover.

Mr. Gould said Andover was only a stop for him on a longer trip.

"I started out in Northern Maine and got stuck here on my way south," he said.

He will continue that trek after his retirement at the end of next month when he and his wife will move to Venice, Fla., a town near Sarasota.

Mr. Gould said he hopes he has been able to leave something of himself behind in Andover.

"I hope I've left a legacy of good music at South Church. It's been nice to be able to work in a place where I can express myself through the art that I love so much."

Gorman and Edward Bishop, both of Dracut. The state primary election is Sept. 20. Deadline for nomination papers was last Tuesday, May 10, for state-wide offices, and May 3 for all other races.

Ms. Marasco, 35, has been a member of the Republican Town Committee since 1989, worked on the successful campaigns of Rep. Gary Coon, R-Andover, and State Treasurer Joe Malone. She has also held a number of appointed and non-appointed jobs in state government. Now she is stepping out from behind the scenes and going politicking in her own first run for elected office.

"It's about time we open up the doors of the state Senate and Legislature as a whole," Ms. Marasco said during a recent interview with the Townsmen.

Three thousand bills died in committee last year, according to Ms. Marasco. The Weld administration has some good ideas and they should be brought to the table for debate, she said. But after reviewing the Senate voting record from its last session, it is clear that Democrats consistently put things off into committees, she said.

"The fundamental issue is, we really need to have a two-party system actively involved in Massachusetts."

Ms. Marasco said she was recently talking with a woman who is running for the Senate in another district who referred to herself as the last person Senate President Billy Bulger wants to see. Ms. Marasco said that comment helped her see her own little niche.

"I want to be the second-to-last person Billy Bulger wants to see."

Business background

Ms. Marasco was born and raised in Andover, attended Andover schools and graduated from Andover High School in 1976.

"The Townsmen's been covering me since I was 11 or 12," Ms. Marasco said. She studied communications and management at Simmons College in Boston and she worked for her father, Patrick Marasco, at his office supply business, Paul B. Williams Office Equipment, which he sold when he retired. While at Simmons she was elected class president and her picture made the front page of the New York Times Magazine with the class presidents of other Boston colleges.

She also received special recognition at graduation "for not being part of the apathetic crowd - for standing up for what you believe in - for standing and acting on behalf of the students."

She then went to Boston College for a master's degree in business administration and, despite other offers, went back to work for her father.

"I like the entrepreneurial environment," she said.

In that environment, she said, you're working hard for people in which you have a stake.

"There's a sense of achievement and progress and building," she said.

Maria Marasco received a call from the governor, who asked her to consider running for the Senate seat. "What can I say to encourage you to run?" the governor asked, she said.

In the fall of 1985, she answered an ad in the newspaper for an executive director for a small environmental agency, and ended up as executive director of the state's Outdoor Advertising Board, which regulates all bill boards and the like.

"Even Michael Dukakis realized he needed a Republican to straighten out the agency, which had been abandoned during the last administration," Ms. Marasco said.

She helped revive the agency and return part of its budget to the general fund, Ms. Marasco said. One thing the agency did while she was working with it was prevent the replacement of the Coca-Cola sign on the side of the Charles River in Brighton, where the Embassy Suites Hotel is now located. At the time, The Boston Globe knocked her for not being politically astute, she said.

Ms. Marasco began taking classes at Suffolk Law School at that time and in 1989 went full time, resigning from her post with the state after three years.

She worked her way through Suffolk as a tax specialist for the accounting firm of KPMG Peat Marwick. After graduating in 1990 and passing the bar exam, she took one or two months off and worked on Rep. Coon's campaign. She also answered phones for two weeks at Joe Malone's headquarters.

"So I got to know some of the people at the Malone campaign."

She went back to work for Peat Marwick full time and sent her resume to the Malone and Weld transition teams. She was on her way to New Jersey for training at Pete Marwick in January of 1991 when she received a call from the Malone transition team and was offered a job as deputy director and legal counsel for the state retirement board.

She took that job and later moved up to full-time legal counsel to the treasury.

"They left us with no records," she said of Treasurer Robert Crane's administration. "It was a disaster."

In 1992, Ms. Marasco moved over to the Pension Reserves Investment Management Board and became administrative officer of the $45 billion reserves fund, which is chaired by Treasurer Malone.

"But I didn't get it because I worked for Joe Malone," she said, adding that she went through interviews with three board members and an executive director. "This wasn't an appointment. I was up against I think 50 other people."

In the year and a half she served, the board reduced the budget by more than $1 million by increasing efficiency, Ms. Marasco said. A new executive director was hired in January, and that was one reason Ms. Marasco left the board, but she had also accomplished one of her goals, "restoring credibility to the fund," she said.

Appeal from Gov. Weld

Ms. Marasco was looking for other employment and a number of people in the Republican party knew she was seeking to enhance her career, she said.

"And then word got back to Bill Weld," she said.

On April Fool's Day she received a call from the governor, who asked her to consider running for the Senate seat.

"What can I say to encourage you to run?" the governor asked, according to Ms. Marasco.

She asked for his opinion on the situation in the state. He said the state issues were important and that he wanted people in the Legislature who would help build support for his and the lieutenant governor's programs.

At present, only nine of the state's 40 senators are Republicans, Ms. Marasco said. The Weld administration believes it needs 15 Republicans to sway enough conservative Democrats to sustain a governor's veto, Ms. Marasco said.

"Where appropriate, I'm not a Republican rubber stamp," she said.

I think I have the ability to listen to what the people want in the communities, "and make the sound, right decision."

She said Democrats have been running state government for too long. Government gets bigger and bigger and dreams get smaller, she said. The time is right for Ms. Marasco to be effective, to change laws and see that wasteful initiatives are gone, she said.

She said she has the ability to assess a program on its merits.

"A program which cannot be implemented and cannot be paid for is probably a bad program," she said.

But you can still implement the good ideas of a bad program, she said. Ms. Marasco said she can cut away the state bureaucracy and the increased burden of taxation.

"I've had the experience of doing that twice. And I'm not shy about it either. Because life's too short. That's why I'm running."

Campaign has begun

Ms. Marasco was scheduled to sign a lease this week for a campaign headquarters on Lakeview Drive in Dracut.

She will support herself through the campaign working part time for her brother, Paul's, business, MagiCandle Inc. in North Andover, and doing some research for a small law practice out of town.

She has not yet begun fund raising.

"There have been no promises" of financial support from Gov. Weld, she said.

But State Committee Chairman Jim Rappaport, who also encouraged her to run, has told her the party can give her financial support for her campaign, Ms. Marasco said. She also said Gov. Weld has said he is open to attending a fund-raiser for her.

Ms. Marasco's mother, Rose, is from Lawrence and her brother, Paul, lives in Dracut, so she has connections throughout the district, she said. Another brother, Pat, lives in Boxford, and a third brother, William, lives in Baltimore, Md.

Maria Marasco was at the convention

Maria Marasco, of 191 Holt Road and a Republican candidate for state Senate, attended the Republican convention in Springfield last weekend. She is a candidate for the 2nd Essex and Middlesex District, which includes Andover, and is currently held by John D. O'Brien Jr.

Ms. Marasco learned Friday that she had enough certified signatures to be on the ballot. "So I went to the convention very happy and excited."

It was her first convention and she was impressed with the "overwhelmingly resounding vote of confidence for the governor, lieutenant governor and treasurer."

She said there was an impressive surge of interest and support at the end of the convention for Mitt Romney of Belmont, candidate for U. S. Senate.

"It was in the air," Ms. Marasco said.

She had the chance to meet all the delegates from the 2nd Essex and Middlesex District. "They're very supportive of my candidacy."

And she spoke briefly with Gov. Weld, who, she said, "expressed enthusiasm for my campaign."

Schools get the $40.5 million

Tuesday, overriding Prop. 2½ to fund $38.5 million in projects for Andover High, South and Sanborn schools, and $2 million for technology updates to the remaining schools.

"The real winners in this are the kids," said Ann Muller, Andover Community for Education organizer and precinct head.

But it was the adult voters who left a lasting image on those involved in the ballot struggle.

Waiting for the results to be posted in town offices Tuesday evening, Dennis Teves, organizer for Citizens Against Tax and Spend, talked about the people with canes and in wheelchairs who braved the rain to cast their ballots.

Ms. Muller, also at town offices, told the story of a mother rushing with a baby in her arms, struggling to beat the 8 p.m. deadline.

Some people complained about the 8 p.m. closing time.

Fellow ACE organizer and precinct head, Madhu Sridhar, said she had been on the phone until almost 8 p.m., asking people to get out and vote, letting them know how close the vote would be, telling them they could have supper anytime, but that this was a one-time thing.

And, in an election that saw one question decided by only eight votes, each person's ballot indeed played an important role. A swing of five votes, and the $2 million technology piece would have been nixed.

As the results began to be posted, advocates of the school buildings project kept Mark McQuillan, superintendent of schools, and others posted with frequent phone calls.

After the results from precinct one were posted, a cheer went up from project supporters, but they tried to remain reserved until the final votes were counted. Precinct two, the last precinct posted, nearly toppled the technology component, which school officials have said is aimed at providing equitable and increasing levels of technology throughout the system.

According to the town clerk's office, 7,765 of the town's 18,426 registered voters cast ballots Tuesday. In 1991, 8,154 voters were involved in defeating a $1.5 million request aimed predominately toward the schools operating budget.

Jan Johnston, left, and Ann Muller stood outside the polling place at Andover High School Tuesday, waving to voters and urging them to vote yes on both override questions. The no voters had their supporters at the polls, too, including Bill Coderre and Dennis Teves. In the afternoon of the vote, Ron Hill and others voting yes were placing phone calls around town, making sure people voted. At Christ Church Tuesday evening, during the regularly-held dinner that night, the Rev. Jim Diamond urged all his congregation to vote, even telling them they should skip dessert if they hadn't voted so they could make the 8 p.m. poll-closing hour.

myself. It's never wrong," she said. "I personally can't figure out how anyone could find seven votes."

Petitions for a recount, requesting a specific method of count, can be filed in the town clerk's office. Eighty signatures, 10 registered voters from each of the eight precincts, must accompany a recount petition.

After the numbers became official, Dr. McQuillan lauded the efforts of ACE, while Ms. Muller threw credit to the School Committee's decision to split the vote into two questions.

"I think it really speaks to the organization abilities of ACE. They were organizing all the way through," said Dr. McQuillan. "That's half the battle, getting the vote out."

ACE divided its people to travel door-to-door in each precinct and named precinct heads to organize the efforts.

"We tried to cover every street in town," said Ms. Muller. "Then we identified the 'yes' vote."

Members followed up their face-to-face meetings with post card messages and then phone calls asking those in favor of the project to vote.

Ms. Sridhar said precinct heads decided to leave the polls late Tuesday afternoon to begin telephoning again because a number of people they knew were in favor of the project had not yet voted.

"I personally think the success of the campaign was we took the trouble to explain," said Ms. Sridhar, who attributed this effort to the limited impact of the advertisements and fliers purchased by those against the plan. "That's one reason they could not swing our 'yes' votes to 'no' votes with their misinformation."

"I think that Andover got the messages. They understood the message clearly and they were able to shift through fact and fiction," said Patrice Minton, head of precinct two for ACE.

Ms. Minton said she was particularly excited about the new science wing for the High School.

"Technology is such a big part of our life now," she said. "There are no adequate labs now. This will change all that."

there is plenty of evidence that many people remain misinformed about what will be involved in the project.

Dr. McQuillan said following the election, a voter had told him that the voter's family could not afford a $40,000 increase in his taxes. The $40.5 million project will cost taxpaying homeowners $56 per $100,000 of property valuation for the first year of the project in fiscal year 1995.

A caller to the Townsmen said he simply didn't believe Sanborn School needed a new swimming pool. There is no plan for a pool anywhere in the project. Sanborn will have a new media center, rooms for special education and music classes and expanded storage areas added to its building.

Driving drunk kills

We've made so much progress, now that we admit that some students will drink and then drive. For several years now, around prom time school officials, students, parents and others who care have come up with as many ways as possible to draw attention to the fact that driving drunk kills.

At Andover High School Friday, every seven to eight minutes a student will get up out of his or her class, leave, go get dressed in all black, return to his/her class, and not say a word for the rest of the day.

That person represents the fact that every seven to eight minutes a teen-ager is killed in this country by a drinking-and-driving-related accident.

At the end of the school day Friday, the 50-or-so students it takes to symbolize the number of students dead from drunk driving-related accidents during that amount of time will gather on the hill at AHS, where a wrecked car sits. A sign leans against it, saying, "These are the days to stay alive. Don't drink and drive!" [See above photos.]

The Andover High chapter of SADD, Students Against Drunk Driving, is organizing the dramatic event, which we applaud and support. Other events at the High School this week to draw attention to the scourge of driving drunk are a skit of a fictitious young student killed in an accident who can see his classmates enjoying life while he is dead, and a video about driving drunk.

We at the newspaper have covered accidents involving students who drove drunk and died. It is both enraging and heart breaking to see such a thing happen.

The prom is Saturday at the Andover Marriott. Make a deal with a friend or with your parent: Don't get into a car with anyone who has been drinking. Call someone for a ride home. No one would turn you down.

Don't be foolish. Don't drive drunk; don't drive with someone who has been drinking.

This is a way to thank your volunteers

By Perry Colmore

I hope you have noticed that the paper is asking groups to send in one profile of a valued volunteer. There are scores of volunteers in this community who make the difference in organizations being able to do a good job.

We thought it would be good to recognize the volunteers by asking the non-profit groups for whom they work to send in their nomination for the story. We probably will run the profiles in June.

So if you would like to say thank-you to a volunteer at your organization, please send notice now. We need the following information: Person's name, address, title if there is one, organization's name and address, nature of the organization's business, nature of the volunteer's work, and then (this is perhaps the most important part) what makes this person's work so valuable.

We are counting on the organizations to give us that information. If you already have sent in your nomination for the series and haven't included enough information, you still have time to add to it. Please make sure to note on your entry that you already sent one part of your nomination if that is the case.

Also, make sure to include the name and phone number of someone we can call if we have questions.

If you have a photo of that person, send it along.

Thank you in advance for helping this paper say thank-you to the volunteer of this community.

We need your phone number

Speaking of including phone numbers, I thought I'd make a plea again for readers to make sure to include their phone numbers whenever they send us anything. Some readers may be afraid we will publish their phone number, which we won't unless requested to do so.

And while we're on the subject, here are some other problems the newspaper has:

- Letters that have no telephone number included with them.

- Press releases that don't say if the person who is the subject of the release lives or works in Andover.

- People who phone to complain - about anything - but won't give their name. People who phone to complain are welcome to call. We ask for your feedback, positive and negative. But we prefer to know with whom we are speaking.

- Organizations that send pages and pages about something, an event or a person, about whom or which they expect a story, but expect us to organize resumes, fliers, posters - you name it, even little scraps of paper - into a story. That would work if we had scores of employees. We try to deal with such submissions, but it takes a while to get them into the newspaper because we have to find the time to process them. If the press release comes in a form that we can hand to our typesetter, it gets into the paper much faster.

- People who can't disagree with another and still be civil.

- Photos that people share with us but come in without identifications.

That complaining completed, I would like to say that the job of putting out a community newspaper is usually wonderful. It's challenging, we meet lots of interesting people, we learn about issues that we otherwise might not have the time and access to research, and we have the privilege of feeling very connected to an alive and challenging community.

Calling D-day veterans

We are looking for veterans in Andover who were in the service and involved in D-day, June 6, 1944, the day the Allies invaded Europe in World War II. Some people with very interesting stories already have phoned us, and we are beginning to put together some stories for the 50th

Former state rep raps current state rep on his refusal to divulge his override stance

Editor: Townsmen:

I have been restrained in my criticism of Gary Coon. I know too well the difficulties of the job, and playing "sideline critic" is not my style. However, his refusal to reveal how he was voting on the Prop. 2½ override pushed me over the edge. ["Will you vote to override Prop. 2½ for the schools?" pages 1 and 35 in the May 12 Townsmen.]

Mr. Coon claims "neutrality" on local issues. I've heard that line before. That means "chicken." There is a difference between intruding on the competent work of local officials, and taking a position on an issue that may cause political discomfort.

This message is irrelevant to the outcome of the override because the voters will have spoken by the time it appears. (I voted "yes.") This message is irrelevant to politics because I am not a candidate for office. This message is, however, very relevant to the essential meaning of public service as I understand it.

Permit me to list the top eight reasons a representative should take a stand whether the issue is technically classified as "local or state." In reality, the money comes out of the same pockets, and the results affect the same people.

1. Standing up to be counted is the absolute minimum citizens expect from a representative. It's called leadership.

2. Only by engaging in the debate do you truly understand the hopes and fears of your community. The Andover/Lawrence Collaborative School was by far the most controversial local issue of the '80s. As a participant (instead of a bystander) in the debate, I learned profound lessons about both communities and the people I represented.

3. People respect you for not "copping out." Will they all agree with you? Never! Vote for you? Perhaps, perhaps not. Respect you? Yes! Is re-election the sole purpose of serving?

4. It's OK to think for yourself. Your supporters will not abandon you for occasionally disagreeing with them.

Memorial Day section

We also are organizing a special sec-

Reasonable people understand that public policy has many dimensions and they are looking for common sense, not political purity from the right or left. A few examples ... Many fiscal conservatives publicly supported the override. When I spoke out against the welfare system, long before it was the popular thing to do, some of my so-called "liberal" supporters were furious, but they did not abandon me. Many even agreed with me.

5. Controversy and debate regarding the role and cost of government, particularly on issues like educating our children, is the very essence of democracy. If a representative is not a "player" in the debate, who is?

6. Most constituents lead very busy lives, and do not get paid to work full-time on public policy issues. They deserve the benefit of their representative's analysis and expertise at his/her disposal. A "no comment" position gives nada.

7. It's no fun being a representative if you don't have a vision, and try to translate that vision to those you represent. Lack of vision means a lack of criteria for making decisions, and that is what really scares voters.

8. Trying to please all the people all the time is a fool's goal.

Readers can supply their own reasons to complete the Top Ten list.

Biking is not allowed on AVIS lands

Editor, Townsmen:

Is the Townsmen aware that AVIS does not permit bicycling in its reservations? (This is true for AVIS land, if perhaps not for town-owned conservation lands.) This prohibition is noted in the 1992 AVIS/Bay Circuit Guide to Walks in Andover.

It seems AVIS hasn't wished to appear overly negative, by posting or otherwise enforcing this proscription, but some of its members - including bicyclists and cycling advocates - regularly mention it to mountain bikers whom they encounter on AVIS trails. As this uninvited bicycle use of the Society's lands grows along with the town's population, it causes increasing damage to fragile habitat.

To print without comment a young athlete's remark that the wide, level trails in an AVIS reservation are tion for Memorial Day, which will be published May 26. The deadline to submit press releases for that section has already passed, but if you were to send something to us in the next two days, we might be able to get it into the section. No promises, but give it a try and we will try to include it. That section will feature Memorial Day plans - all about what's happening that weekend and Monday, and believe me, plenty is happening in Andover.

Mother of PA student hit by car objects to the story

Editor, Townsmen:

This letter is in response to the article and editorial regarding the two Phillips Academy students injured in the accident that occurred Tuesday, May 3, on South Main Street. My daughter, Carrie Leiser-Williams, was one of the two girls injured.

While the reporting of the accident was accurate as to the injuries sustained by the girls, what caused me the greatest concern is the choice of words describing the girls' movement: "...they darted out." After reading the police report, it is clear the reporter chose to report the accident from the driver's perspective and not Carrie or Misun Chung's perspective. For in this report the driver stated "both pedestrians darted in front of her vehicle." Carrie's statement clearly states that she and Misun continued "walking through the crosswalk."

This misrepresentation is further reinforced in the editorial of the same issue where the victims (Carrie and Misun) are blamed for getting hit. Not only are Carrie and Misun blamed, but so is the entire Phillips Academy student body. The tone of the editorial is one of blame for: "They, most likely, were rushing to get to their 8 a.m. classes. They probably were talking, not paying too much attention."

This, unfortunately, seems to be the attitude in general towards young people, when, in fact, in this case, the negligence and inattention exhibited were not Carrie's nor Misun's but the driver's. Your suggestions for punishing students who "don't cross this dangerous road in a designated place" are unreasonable at best and do not solve the problem of an unsafe pedestrian crossing.

Further, your suggestions ignore the fact that Carrie and Misun were crossing "this dangerous road" in a designated place and using caution while doing so. Surely the physical and emotional trauma these young women have suffered is an undeserved punishment and the entire community would be better served by joining together to come up with positive solutions rather than blaming innocent victims. Perhaps a more useful suggestion would be to ask all people using "this dangerous road" (i.e. drivers of vehicles as well as pedestrians) to demonstrate responsible behavior by exhibiting care and caution at all times.

Use of road salt is going up, up, up

Editor, Townsmen:

In 1950, Andover applied 80 tons of salt during the winter months. By 1972, this had grown to 2,000 tons, and an item in the warrant proposed that "the use of chlorides within the town limits for the control of snow and ice on both public and private parking areas and roadways is prohibited."

From 1983-'86, Andover averaged 2,600 tons; from '87-'90, the average was 4,300 tons, and from '91-'94, the average was 4,400 tons. In 1994, 6,000 tons were used, and since 1982, the town has used over 47,000 tons, total.

The following excerpts are from the town meeting of 1972, as reported in the Andover Townsmen:

"He asked that the town consider the regulation of salt use before communities are faced with problems of crisis proportions ... suggested an amendment ... to set up guidelines for the town officials to follow in the use of salt and also to create a study and advisory committee."

"Chairman Robert Watters expressed the board's opposition to the article noting that the public works department has been doing a good job of regulating and monitoring salt use. He said the board has confidence in the department and its program of continuing a minimum usage of salt for safety purposes. Public Works director Robert McQuade, joined by town manager Maynard Austen said there was no crisis in Andover regarding salt use ..."

"Selectman Alan French told the voters that the board is concerned about salt use and assured the townspeople that continued use of chlorides would be watched closely. Highway Superintendent Stanley Chlebowski... said that ... over 30 years ago, there were horses and wagons and salt was used then. With the increase in the miles of road and the modern vehicular traffic, chloride use is necessary."

"By an overwhelming vote, the salt use was continued under present policies."

St. Augustine's and West Elementary receive arts grants

State Senator John D. O'Brien, D-Andover, and State Rep. Gary M. Coon, R-Andover, join the Massachusetts Cultural Council to announce that several exciting projects are occurring in Lawrence and Andover schools as part of a program called Massachusetts Cultural Council's Event and Residency Program.

This program places artists and cultural organizations in local schools to integrate the arts, humanities and interpretive sciences into the basic school curriculum, encourage educators to take advantage of the cultural resources in Massachusetts and build partnerships between schools and cultural resource providers for cultural education.

Grants have been awarded to the following Andover schools:

St. Augustine School will receive funds for a creative writing and publishing workshop with author Jeffrey Kelly.

West Elementary School received an award for performances of "Journey into Jazz" by Selma McCord.

Due to the support of the Legislature to fund these programs and matching grants from the private sector and non-profit cultural agencies, the Massachusetts Cultural Council is able to promote a wide range of programs in local communities.

Sen. O'Brien and Rep. Coon said that several schools in Andover and Lawrence have been selected to take part in these residency programs. Area schools have been awarded a total of $3,462 to initiate these programs.

An Andover doctor, Josef Gendlerman, was injured at 9:02 a.m. last Friday, May 13, when he was walking in the parking lot behind CVS on Chestnut Street and was struck by a car backing out of a parking space. Dr. Gendlerman, whose office is at 68 Main St., above the Shawmut Bank, was taken by ambulance to a hospital where he had surgery on a broken leg. Doctors also removed bone parts in his leg. This week he had not returned to his office. The driver of the car, whose name was not yet available from the police, was given a verbal reprimand at the site of the accident.

Schools Councils reports

"Collectively, (the plans) say a lot for what is needed by the community and the school system," said Lloyd Willey, School Committee member. "They set up some priorities for us for our schools. How we're going to deal with the cost is going to be a very significant problem."

"That is a common problem with all the school plans. Some of them may be more (detailed) than we can afford right now," said Dr. McQuillan.

What are School Councils?

School Councils are made up of groups of parents, teachers and community representatives who must present a school improvement plan to the School Committee for approval. School Councils and their improvement plans are a requirement of the state's 1993 Education Reform Act.

The improvement plans from Sanborn, Shawsheen and Andover High School were on the agenda to be discussed at yesterday's School Committee meeting, Wednesday, May 18. The Townsmen went to press before the meeting. The May 3 committee meeting featured the South, West Elementary and Doherty Middle schools' School Councils.

"It doesn't appear, looking at the three plans, that we have the money to acquiesce to the requests," Susan Dalton, committee secretary, said May 3. "It would be nice to acquiesce to everyone's request. I just don't know how we can do that."

Councils ask for smaller classes

One of the most common, and expensive requests, is to decrease class sizes, according to Dr. McQuillan.

"While we recognize the need and we appreciate their concern, the reality is we cannot accommodate them," said Dick Muller, committee chairman. "That doesn't mean the recommendations are wrong."

While funds are not available to hire the ideal number of teachers or provide training for teacher development, many elements of the proposals seek changes that can be accomplished without any additional revenue.

In addition, council members seem aware of the financial limitations, but want to make the School Committee

Here's what the councils want

By Neil Fater

Every School Council wants its improvement plan to better the name of its school. But only South School's council wants to actually change its name.

A vision statement in the council's plan states, "South School would like an identity within the Andover community," and therefore the council would like to rename the school after a community member.

Though the idea did not meet with strong support from the School Committee, the suggestion was one of many unique ideas presented by individual school councils. Under the state's 1993 Education Reform Act, each newly-formed council must submit a school improvement plan to the School Committee for approval. There are nine categories that must be addressed in each plan.

The introduction to the South plan states: "There is much more to accomplish, but we have had to live within the uncompromising limits of available time and energy, knowing that future councils will be able to continue our work, benefiting greatly from the framework that we provide."

Bruce Earnley, a parent representative from the South School Council, said May 3 that he believes the schools are "performing magic," and that school-related organizations such as PTOs are currently funding many special projects themselves.

"It wouldn't surprise me if they continue to do magic," he said, "but this is a way to put the School Committee on alert."

Additional staffing and teacher development requests are beyond the fundraising abilities of PTO and similar organizations, according to Mr. Willey.

"That is clearly a funding issue the School Committee must address," he said. "How we fund all this is going to be the subject of a lot of discussion for the next several months."

After the committee has reviewed the improvement plans it will vote on

by Mark F. DeLorenzo, D.C.

A HIP MANIPULATION

A pain in the hips emanating from the top front of the legs may signal sacroiliac joint dysfunction. This long name is derived from the sacroiliac joint, which connects the sacrum (the bone between the lower vertebrae and the tailbone) with the ilium (the upper part of the hip bone). Dysfunction commonly occurs when there is an uneven distribution of weight on the pelvis. Fortunately, the pain associated with this problem can be treated with manipulation. It involves the patient lying face up, with hands clasped behind the neck. Standing along side, the chiropractor places one arm through both the patient's arms and rotates the patients toward him or her. The manipulation occurs when the chiropractor pushes the patient's raised hip down onto the table while rotating the upper torso.

We are able to treat many different types of problems for all ages because all of our methods are natural, safe and gentle. We use no drugs or surgery. For more information or an appointment, call DeLorenzo Chiropractic Group, 475-5042. Our personal concern is your health. Our office is located at 15 Central Street.

P.S. The hip manipulation described above for sacroiliac joint dysfunction works best for minor hip pain of short duration.

Shawsheen, Sanborn and Andover High schools' councils were on the agenda for last night's meeting, May 18. The plans for South, West Elementary and Doherty Middle schools were discussed last committee meeting.

South School

South School's council divided the presentation of its plan into three parts under the catch phrases respect and responsibility, diversity, and learning as a lifelong process.

An overall theme of the plan seemed to be to bring all members of the community together to assist in the learning process.

"I think that's a real top priority: that we all come together and work together," said Eileen Woods, principal.

Jane Markiewicz, an instructional specialist, discussed the importance of life-long learning and interest in education. "Children go through school now because they have to go," she said.

Susan Dalton, School Committee secretary, said she was pleased to see the council had considered how the school will deal with the construction project should it pass.

West Elementary

In preparing their plans, both the South and West Elementary groups addressed the desire to expand the number of volunteers and improve their math and science curricula. The math program was in some way mentioned in 57 of the 119 West Elementary surveys returned by parents.

Continuation or expansion of after-school programs was another universally-expressed desire, along with lower student-teacher ratios and increased staff development.

According to the plan, West council members want to enforce the security measures outlined in the student handbook and stated their support, May 3, for heterogeneous groupings and the use of varied teaching styles at the K-5 grade level.

"Children come into school today carrying a lot of baggage," said Charles Friel, principal. "Kids come to school with a lot of needs that cannot be addressed by a particular curriculum."

The council also wants to change a section of the Andover Elementary Code of Conduct to read "Respect for the diversity of our schools. No one may make a derogatory comment about another child's race, religion or gender."

A first offense would require a talk with the student's teacher, a second offense a talk with the principal, and after the third offense the student's parents would be called.

Ms. Dalton said that because it is too difficult to define the meaning of "a derogatory comment about another child's race, religion, or gender," that portion should be eliminated from the recommendation.

Bill Huston disagreed. Reading the second sentence he asked, "Isn't that fairly specific? That seems pretty concrete in those particular areas."

Ms. Dalton said she did not feel comfortable with the passage and thought it would not pass "a legal or constitutional test."

Doherty Middle

Reduction in class sizes and outreach involving community and parents were suggested in the Doherty plan. However, guidance needs were particularly highlighted, in part because students are at a unique point in their lives, said members.

"Their life is a total soap opera. They really need a lot of support," said Robert Mirisola. a teacher at the school. "I think we're sorely lacking in the area of enough personnel in the (area of) guidance."

Council members also recommended maintaining the team leader position and the concept of team teaching. The current budget for next year eliminates the team leader position at the middle schools. Team leaders coordinate team teaching, scheduling, and interdisciplinary instruction.

"The team leader is important in communications between guidance, teen and parents," said Josephine Goldin, English teacher. "It's a key position in the middle schools."

The Doherty council recommended reconsideration of the budget cut.

Sanborn

"What Sanborn has done, is they attempted to build around three core values," said Mark McQuillan, superintendent of schools.

The first of these three core assumptions is that all children should be given the opportunity to learn. According to Dr. McQuillan, related goals include identifying the different learning styles of each student, challenging students to engage in higher-learning thinking skills, using teachers time more effectively and providing staff with development opportunities.

The second core value is to establish a growing partnership with parents and other community members. Corresponding goals are to develop volunteer programs encouraging both parental and outside involvement from organizations such as the League of Women Voters and the Andover Chamber of Commerce.

The final assumption of the Sanborn plan is that students can learn best in a safe and secure environment. According to Dr. McQuillan, the associated goals are to provide a safe drop-off area, an orderly playground and knowledge on how to behave in an emergency.

Shawsheen

The Shawsheen plan heavily addressed the issues of class size, parental involvement and professional development. Approximately $30,000 was requested for teacher development courses to be taken over the summer.

"Those kind of recommendations become very difficult to act upon," said Dr. McQuillan.

Staff development for pre- and after-school courses for the students was also requested. To eliminate splintering, the council recommended that the 10-year-old wooden playground equipment be repaired or replaced with other materials.

Andover High

The professional development plan created by the High School council focuses on addressing students' self-esteem and fostering greater dialog between students and teachers, said Dr. McQuillan.

As a means of providing useful education for those planning to immediately enter the workforce after high school, the High School council recommends expanding the mentor and business programs, to provide more on-the-job training and summer employment opportunities.

Your Dental HEALTH

HOLD ON TO YOUR TEETH

Today, the dentist places emphasis on the importance of daily brushing and flossing for older adults, rather than on tooth extraction followed by full dentures. By controlling plaque-building bacteria in their mouths, Americans over the age of 65 have been increasingly able to check gum disease and tooth decay. As a result, they are retaining their natural teeth longer. In 1960, only about 35 percent of adults over the age of 65 had any of their own teeth. Thirty years later, that number had nearly doubled to about 60 percent. Today's average 65-year-old has about 18 out of 32 of his or her natural teeth, versus only about 7 teeth 30 years ago. Clearly, older adults who engage in good oral hygiene with the expectation of keeping their teeth will, for the most part, realize their goals.

Don't be a dental statistic. Keep ahead of problems and don't postpone dental or gum work that needs to be done. Take a few minutes to learn good oral hygiene and practice it faithfully. We'll be celebrating National Senior Smile Week this week, dedicated to heightening public awareness of the importance of dental care and the availability of dental services to older adults. Young or old, for more information about good dental health, call us at 475-2431, 296 Lowell Street, Rt 133, with easy access off Rt 93. Hrs: Mon & Thur 10-8, Tues & Fri 8-6, & by appointment. P.S. Once sticky plaque hardens into tartar, it can only be removed by a professional cleaning.

Acres of antiques available at show and sale Saturday

If you have ever ventured to one of Massachusetts renowned Brimfield Antique Shows, you were probably lured by the variety of antiques and price. You can enjoy a similar experience Sunday, May 22, without the drive when the Custom House Maritime Museum welcomes more than 100 dealers to its show and sale at the Plum Island Airport in Newburyport.

Replacing its annual three-day antique show this year, the new format was conceived to appeal to everyone who likes antiques - from the serious collector to those just out to the beach for the afternoon. Dealers from all over New England and from as far as Colorado will set up tents on the grassy runways of the airport - with everything from American painted and formal furniture to books, jewelry, rugs, silver and collectibles such as tin, glassware and toys.

Paul DeCoste from Newburyport will bring his Americana and nautical antiques, including sea chests, scrimshaw and sailor's work, as well as nautical and other scientific instruments.

The rain-or-shine event, scheduled from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., promises to be a festive one.

In addition to acres of antiques for sale, there will also be an appraisal booth where, for $10, you can put a value on that chair, brooch or painting you always wondered about.

An "Attic Treasure's Booth" provides an opportunity to sell that chair, brooch or painting on consignment, with proceeds benefiting the Custom House. Food concessions featuring some of New England's best clam chowder will be on hand.

This event is a fund-raiser for the Custom House. Lots of parking available. Take Exit 57 off Interstate 95, 113 east and follow the signs.

Admission is $4 or $10 for early buyers (between 7 and 9 a.m.).

For more information on consignments, call the Custom House at 462-8681.

Dealer space is limited. Dealers should call Trisha McElroy Brodrick at (603) 778-8842.

Majestic photographs celebrate 75 years of national parks

In the tradition of Ansel Adams, David Halpern, National Park artist-in-residence for the past nine years, interprets the majestic beauty and magnificent terrain of America. The 25 photographs that comprise "By A Clearer Light: Commemorating the 75th Anniversary of the National Park Service" can be viewed through July 5 at the Boott Gallery at Lowell National Historical Park.

Mr. Halpern photographs the American landscape, motivated by a lifelong concern for the environment and his dedication to the art of photography.

These recent works honor the National Park Service on the occasion of its 75th anniversary. The images depict Rocky Mountain, Bryce Canyon, Glacier, Capitol Reef, Yellowstone, Black Canyon of the Gunnison, and the Great Smoky Mountains national parks.

Narrative labels taken from the photographer's journal accompany the breathtaking images. Mr. Halpern describes his experience in making each of the photographs and writes, "My role is to interpret these national treasures and to share my vision with you. If this helps to intensify your vision and develop a greater appreciation of these areas that have become part of our heritage to protect and pass on to future generations, then my work will have been successful."

A successful commercial photographer and an instructor of photography at the Philbrook Art Center and the University of Tulsa, Mr. Halpern is also known for his contributions to numerous publications. His primary artistic and environmental concerns, however, are expressed in his images of the landscape.

The exhibition of "By A Clearer Light: Commemorating the 75th Anniversary of the National Park Service" will coincide with the celebration of National Parks Week, May 22-28.

It is part of a broader effort by Lowell National Historical Park to bring this nation's natural parks to its urban visitors.

The Boott Gallery is located at 400 Foot of John St., Lowell, and is open daily from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Admission is free.

Habitat for Humanity's recent fund-raising event at Phillips Academy's Addison Gallery of American Art yielded more than $95,000, including corporate contributions. This is enough money to cover the cost of building two of the eight houses planned in the project's current phase four in Lawrence, providing decent housing for people who otherwise couldn't afford it. From left are Jock Reynolds, the Gallery's director; guest speaker Pat McGovern, former Democratic state senator from Lawrence; and Barbara Montopoli, chairwoman of the event.

The Spar & Spindle Girl Scout Council, in cooperation with Lawrence Heritage State Park, is preparing "Girl Scouting Through the Ages," an exhibit of Girl Scout memorabilia to be displayed at the Lawrence Heritage State Park Visitors' Center in Lawrence.

The Spar & Spindle Girl Scout Council Museum Committee, dedicated to the preservation of the past for the education and enrichment of the future, has put together this exhibit using materials from its collection.

Some of the items on display are a quilt made by troops from Lawrence and Methuen, uniforms from various time periods (including a reproduction of the original 1912 uniform), posters, information about Juliette Low (founder of Girl Scouts in the U.S.), dolls in international uniforms, badges, and other Girl Scout memorabilia. Also on display is a collection of photos and other items from Troop 88 from Lawrence, which has been an active troop in this area for 25 years.

Girl Scouting has undergone many changes since its beginning in 1912, including the variety of programs offered, the growth of the organization, and the pins, insignia and uniforms, but the overall mission of Girl Scouting - to serve girls and help them each their highest potential - has not changed in over 80 years of its history.

The exhibit will be open until Saturday, June 11. The Visitors' Center is open daily, 9 a.m.-4 p.m. A special open house has been planned for Sunday, June 5, from 1-4 p.m.

One adult and three juveniles nabbed in West Andover break

By Don Staruk

One adult and three juveniles were arrested Monday night, May 16, in West Andover after a neighbor interrupted a break in progress at a Brookside Drive apartment.

One of the suspects arrested, Azam Mohammed, 17, of Belmont Street, Lawrence, was being held Tuesday on a Brookline armed robbery warrant in addition to charges related to two breaks in Andover, said Patrolman Harry Collins.

The neighbor saw a boy she recognized coming out of the neighbor's apartment at about 5:15 p.m. She went into the apartment and was assaulted, at one point being pushed and thrown against a wall, by one or more suspects, who then fled. The woman, who was later treated for a dislocated shoulder, bumps and bruises, locked herself in the apartment and called police. The suspects returned and tried unsuccessfully to get back into the apartment while she was on the phone with police, according to reports.

The woman was able to give police the name of one boy she recognized, a resident of the complex. That boy in turn led police to the other suspects.

Immediately after the incident, a 14-year-old Brookside Drive boy was charged with home invasion (with a person assaulted in the home) and larceny. A second 14-year-old Brookside Drive boy faced the same two charges and a charge of assault and battery.

A warrant was issued for Mr. Mohammed, older brother of the second boy. Mr. Mohammed was arrested at a home on Carriage Hill Road at 11:28 p.m. and charged on the warrant for the home invasion, larceny and assault and battery. He also was charged with breaking and entering in the nighttime with intent to commit a felony, breaking and entering in the daytime with intent to commit a felony, and larceny. The additional charges were related to at least one other house break on Lowell Street.

A 16-year-old Ravens Bluff girl arrested with Mr. Mohammed was charged with being an accessory after the fact. She allegedly allowed Mr. Mohammed to use her car during Monday night's break and in other area house breaks. Mr. Mohammed had property from both breaks on his person when he was booked at the police station, according to Officer Collins. Some property from the Brookside Drive break was still unaccounted for Tuesday.

After he was arrested, police learned about the Brookline warrant for Mr. Mohammed for an armed robbery of a CVS/Pharmacy in that town. Mr. Mohammed was arraigned in Lawrence District court Tuesday and held on $2,000 cash bail. He is also being held for Brookline.

The three juveniles were also arraigned Tuesday morning in Lawrence and all three were released to their parents, according to police.

Sgt. James Hashem and officers John Pathakis, Bill Wallace and Collins assisted in the investigation and arrests.

Local aid increases for cities, towns

State Senator John D. O'Brien, D-Andover, announces that the Senate recently passed a local aid resolution that will increase lottery aid and educational aid for Massachusetts cities and towns.

Lottery aid distributed to the town of Andover will increase by $106,406. Last year Andover received $747,377. For the 1995 fiscal year, Andover will receive $852,783. In terms of education aid, Andover will receive $2,251,741 for the fiscal year beginning this July. This represents an $129,453 increase from the amount allocated to Andover for the 1994 fiscal year.

The Senate unanimously passed the resolution. The House of Representatives also passed a resolution, which included the same lottery aid increase. The Senate resolution also provides $189.7 million allocated for new education aid.

Senator O'Brien said this increase in aid is significant because it represents at total of $280 million increase in aid. "This is a real plus for cities and towns," he said.

auto tips

Owner

KEEPING AN EYE ON AUTOMOBILES

Although the automatic transmission is the most complex mechanical device to be found on a modern car, its maintenance requirements are relatively simple. One task that car owners can perform for themselves in this regard involves checking the transmission fluid level on a monthly basis. In most cases, this means checking the fluid level on the transmission dip stick, with the car at operating temperature and the transmission shifted into neutral. Automatic transmissions also have filters which should be changed every two years (or 30,000 miles). This is a job for the auto mechanic. Filters are designed to remove metal shavings that result from transmission wear. If filter changes are neglected, it can leave these particles free to clog tiny valves and cause rough shifts.

Even though maintenance requirements are simple for automatic transmissions, it is important to keep up to date on changing fluid and filters. If you are having a more serious problem with your transmission, you can feel confident that the service technicians at NASSAR FORD are trained to detect and repair anything that might be wrong. We use state of the art technology to repair your automobile. We also have a large inventory of new and used cars and trucks. Our prices are more than competitive. See this newspaper on a regular basis for our super price specials, or come visit us at 320 S. Broadway in Lawrence (988-6904). Our service department is open Monday through Friday from 7:00 AM to 6:30 PM. HINT: If normally clear, red transmission fluid appears darkened and has a burned odor, it may signal transmission trouble ahead.

BUSINESS PROFILES

President Celestina Silva

SCS (Silva Cleaning Systems, Inc.)

SCS President, Celestina Silva, values professionalism in the residential cleaning business and provides personalizes service to the consumer. SCS delivers quality service, custom tailored to the client's needs. SCS is dedicated to meeting the client's specifications concerning how and when the home is cleaned. They are responsible and thorough.

Silva Cleaning Systems, Inc. is a full service cleaning company. They furnish all the equipment and supplies needed to clean. All supplies are environmentally safe and provided by the company, unless the home owner wished otherwise.

Each home is assigned one cleaner who, with the approval of the owner, will service the customer as long as that employee is with the company. The home, furnishings and valued possessions are safe in the hands of SCS's well trained employees, who receive two weeks training and have a supervisor monitoring the work. Special requests are taken care of, such as polishing silver and brass, cleaning the oven and refrigerator. A company van provides transportation for the cleaners to ensure that they are on schedule.

A SCS representative will go to the customer's home for a consultation. Their services can be a one time cleaning or on a regularly scheduled basis. The very affordable rate is a minimum of $42 for three hours. For example, a small six room house can typically be cleaned for this minimum rate. They will take the responsibility for maintaining the home. The client chooses the times and tasks to be done and SCS does the rest.

SCS offers security for the customer who cannot be home when the cleaners arrive. They are fully insured and bonded and are members of Business Service Contractors Association, International. SCS is also one of the leading industrial janitorial companies. They do carpet, upholstery and drapery cleaning, as well as having a special crew for windows.

To Contact Silva Cleaning Systems, Inc. call (603) 894-5595. This is a local number for most Andover residents.

Ellie's Arabic and American Food Has EXPANDED

Since Regina Ragonese acquired Ellie's Arabic and American Food in January, 1992, she has expanded to double the capacity of the restaurant. In addition to the warmth of the wood paneled dining room, Regina has added a beautifully appointed room with a full service bar and TV for those who wish to watch their favorite sports. Both smoking and non-smoking rooms are available. Function rooms, seating from thirty-eight to forty, are available for corporate meetings, lunches, showers, anniversary parties, retirement parties or any function where a group wishes to get together for fine food and service. Catering is also available outside of the restaurant.

Ellie's Arabic and American Food has continued the welcoming atmosphere where people like to meet under the new management that it earned during the seventeen prior years. Regina has maintained the popular items on the menu and added new favorites. Arabic dinners are still available (including Assorted Arabic Trays), as are new offerings such as lobster pie; baked haddock; chicken, lamb, pork and beef dinners. Express luncheon specials are served between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. All items on the menu are available for take-out. There is also a children's menu and Sunday and Thursday are Senior Citizens days.

Word of mouth has made this pleasant and cheerful family restaurant a success. They welcome feedback of any suggestions whereby they can better serve their customers. Ellie's periodically has a drawing for complimentary dinners. Gift certificates are available.

Ellie's Arabic and American Food offers the finest in Arabic and American cuisine. They are located at 76 South Broadway, Lawrence. Parking is now available in front. Hours are Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday 11 a.m. to 9 p.m., Friday and Saturday, 11 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. and Sunday noon to 9 p.m. Telephone: (508) 688-7587.

In the overrides' aftermath, there's still work to be done

By Neil Fater

Most people realized the override of Prop. 2½ would mean new classrooms, gymnasiums, libraries and playing fields for Andover. Most also realized there would be a number of new deadlines for the School Building Committee to meet.

But few figured it would lead to the creation of two new committees.

However, in large part because of the $40.5 million school buildings project, a taxpayer advocacy group and an ad hoc technology committee for the schools may join a growing list of Andover committees.

"We need a citizens' group," said Dennis Teves, of 8 Mohawk Drive and organizer of Citizens Against Tax and Spend (CATS). "We're going to probably reorganize and try to get a group of citizens together to make a difference."

Mr. Teves was at the polls Tuesday from 7:30 a.m. until the 8 p.m. closing, and placed an article seeking a town management audit on the warrant for April Town Meeting.

Since at least the beginning of this year, Mr. Teves, an often outspoken taxpayer advocate, has talked of forming such a group. Time and organization have been the problems. But the school buildings project may have been the necessary event to galvanize the movement.

"I think there are a lot of people coming forward now saying it's a good idea. Whether it's going to happen now, I don't know," he said.

The creation of an ad hoc committee for technology seems more definite, and School Committee members planned to discuss such a proposal last night, Wednesday.

"Assuming that is approved, and once that gets going, we really need to focus on the best way to spend the money," said Matt Lennon, building committee member, referring to the $2 million technology piece. Mr. Lennon said he hoped to work intensely with the curriculum councils to make technology a part of each course.

"What we want to avoid doing is going out and buying truckloads of computers and having them delivered to the schools without a plan on how they will be used," he said. "We want to avoid having every computer in the system go obsolete at the same time."

To assure this, Mr. Lennon said he might suggest spreading the money out over a number of years. But Mr. Lennon did not commit to $2 million as the high water mark for spending.

"It's hard to say. That's certainly a fair amount of money to get us off to a good start," he said. The school system has only a rough idea of how it will use the $2 million at this point, and will accept bids from computer consultants.

Technology updates were included for South, Sanborn, and the High School in the $38.5 million project approved in question one. School officials said the $2 million technology piece is designed to provide equal opportunity at all the elementary schools, and create greater opportunity as a student continues up through the system.

"There's no need to rush into anything," said Mr. Lennon. "We're talking about changing the curriculum or enlarging it and that's something that takes time."

Because Andover will pay for the entire $2 million of this piece, there are no state deadlines to be met.

However, the plans for the $38.5 million for Andover High, South, and Sanborn must be submitted to the state by June 1 to guarantee Andover will receive 60 percent reimbursement for the principal cost and interest of the project, according to Jim Marsh, building committee chairman.

According to Mr. Marsh, the South and Sanborn projects should be completed by fall of 1995 and the two-year High School project by the opening of school in 1996.

Construction workers and architects will try to take as much advantage of school vacations as possible, he said.

YOUTH SOCCER

Lions 2 - Peabody Tanners 1

Andover upset Peabody in a hard-fought game between two evenly matched teams. Right Wing Pat Curtis scored a picture goal on a through pass from Sweeper Pat Coleman mid-way through the first half. Peabody tied the score on a goal box scramble, following a corner kick with less than three minutes to play in the game. Pat Coleman won the game in heroic fashion with a booming direct kick from 30 yards away just under the crossbar with less than 40 seconds remaining. Phil Ayoub and Mike Monteiro preserved the victory in goal.

Although this was a great team effort, special recognition goes to Halfbacks Dan Kulp, Rob Plantoni and Phil Risseuw, as well as Fullbacks Drew Maletz and Steve Scarpulla for outstanding effort.

Jr. Warriors 1 - Pentucket 0

In a game played in cold, gale force winds, the Jr. Warriors were victorious. Megan Roth scored the goal on a ricochet shot off a Pentucket player. Otherwise, the outstanding play by the Pentucket goalie stopped shot after shot.

The few shots Pentucket managed to get off were easily handled by Julie Viola. But it was the great work by the Jr. Warrior defense that kept the ball in the Pentucket end of the field nearly the entire half when the wind was at its back. Leading the defense were Julie Litzberger, Bob Contos, Viki Pierce, Victoria Costello and Charlotte Muller.

With the wind in its face, the offense played magnificently, keeping the ball in the Pentucket end. Great play was registered by Jessie Smith, Noelle Blank, Bethany Caruso, Courtney Barron, Kristi Keller, Sarah Muller, Laura Orlando and, playing one of her best games, Brenna O'Connor.

Andover Force 4 - Salem Warlocks 3

In an incredible finish, Andover came back from a two-goal deficit early in the second half to win the game in the final seconds. The winning goal was scored by Jeff Olender, who had two goals and an assist. He was set up on the winning goal by Andy Pelletier and Kyle Leuner, who just wouldn't give up.

Greg Roy and Dave Kodinsky had the other two unanswered goals and they both also had assists. Andy Pelletier and Kyle Leuner also assisted on those goals, and Greg Roy and Dave Kodinsky assisted on Andover's first goal.

Mike Alberico turned in a valiant effort in goal and Chris Page and Chad Mongeau kept Salem in check in the second half.

Breakers 4 - Pentucket Express 1

The Andover Breakers defeated the Pentucket Express 4 to 1. All the Breakers' goals were scored in the second half. Heidi Gomes led the team with three goals, and assists came from Melissa Cistoldi, Adrienne Ciampa and Stacy Luti. The fourth goal was kicked in by Adrienne Ciampa off a head butt from Nicole Haerer.

BOW: Elizabeth Bigelow and Andrea Martin for their excellent defensive efforts.

ASA Blazers 3 - N. And. Crusaders 0

The Blazers controlled this match from the opening kickoff. Kerry Nugent scored first off a cross from Jen Annese. Late in the half, Caitlin Grasso found the net from another Annese cross. Solid back play by Lindsay Ravens, Kristen Herlihy, Kara Ahern, Leah Spires, Sioban Landry, Katie Childs, Kerry Nugent and Diana Petersen kept the Crusaders pinned in their own half most of the game. In the middle of the second half, Katie Witman sent Annese on a break away with a nice spaceball. Annese drew the keeper to the near post and placed a nice shot into the far side.

Andover Lasers 3 - Salem 0

Laser defenders Chris Morrissey, Charlie Gregory, Jonathan Lakow, Jason Swift, Stephen Liu and Alan Ginsberg were able to shutout Salem in winds that at times gusted to 30 mph. Goals were scored by Dan Coleman, Michael Kaczynski (on a beautiful head) and Jonathan Lakow from his stopper position. Coleman scored on a corner kick, which he curved perfectly into the net. Two assists were logged as well by Coleman. Super transition play by Brendan Pytka, Justin Pytka, Tom McLaughlin, Paul Davison, Kyle Thompson, Josh Gagnon and Kyle McCauley.

LA Gears 1 - Nikes 0

In the closely played game, the LA Gears pulled ahead in the second quarter with a goal by Janice Chu. Outstanding goaltending by LA Gear Christine Smaglia in the first quarter kept the Nikes from scoring despite numerous kicks on goal. The Nikes' efforts were led by Maura McConville on offense and Emily Rice on defense.

BOW: Liz Connors, Stephanie Fish and Danielle den Hartog (Nikes); Kaitlin Carney, Taylor Traub and Robin Young (LA Gears).

Avias 1 - Nikes 0

The Nikes dominated the play through the entire game. Nike Rachel Robinson was outstanding at both goalie and sweeper. The Nikes' luck ran out when the Avias scored with less than one minute to play.

BOW: Maura McConville, Megan Bradley and Jen Wagner (Nikes).

Sambas 1 - Mitres 1

The Sambas were the first to score with a goal by Erin Zuen, assisted by Shannon Gillis and Suzanne Callanen. The Sambas played well into the second half against a brisk wind, keeping the Mitres scoreless until the fourth quarter.

BOW: Liz Tung, Alexis Caselle and Susie Anderson (Sambas).

Sambas 6 - Avias 0

Though the Sambas dominated the entire game, the Avias played aggressively with no subs and very few shots on the Sambas goal. Katie Buckley was first to score for the Sambas with an assist by Laura Mertes and Melissa Langlais. In the second quarter, Erin Zuen scored the first of her three goals in that quarter off a pass from Sarah Marden. Suzanne Callanen scored in the third quarter and Angelina Yang scored in the fourth quarter.

BOW: Rachel Greer, Liz Tung and Susie Anderson (Sambas).

LA Gears 3 - Tangos 0

The LA Gears dominated just enough to make a few shots on goal count, otherwise it was a very evenly matched game. Joy Ciruso took the LA Gears ahead in the second quarter with a pass from Janice Chu. Then Robin Young kicked an unassisted goal in the third quarter. Taylor Traub wrapped up the LA Gears' scoring efforts with a goal off an assist from Elizabeth Demers.

BOW: Kristin Shaw and Jessica Bindman - LA Gears; Katie McKain, Jia Jung and Kate Gurry (Tangos).

Adidas 4 - Nikes 2

The score didn't reflect the evenly matched effort of these two powerful teams. Though Adidas goalie Kaitlyn Sarantos blocked three Nike attempts on goal, Nike Liz Connors made good on a pass from Maureen Meulen to put the Nikes ahead. The Adidas came back in the second quarter with a goal by Melissa Collier. Then in the third quarter, the Adidas turned on the steam with a goal by Julie McLearn and two goals by Bridget Gomes, one of which was a penalty shot. The Nikes came back in the fourth quarter when halfback Liz Connors scored the final goal with an assist again by Maureen Meulen.

BOW: Rachel Weiner and Diana Finegold (Adidas); Rachel Robinson, Nicole Richter and Emily Rice (Nikes).

Strikers 2 - North Andover Jesters 1

In a game against their closest rivals, the Strikers dominated play, avenged their only defeat of the season and maintained firm hold on first place.

In the first half, Alexis Contos led a strong defense and Lisa Tisbert intercepted a pass and blasted home the first goal.

The second half found Caitlin Murray very aggressive on defense and Kerryn O'Connor breaking up many advances by the Jesters. Andover had many threatening corner kicks by Kristin Sweeney and the winning goal was scored by Erica Tebbetts after a perfect crossing pass by Courtney Sullivan.

Attack 0 - Newburyport Dynamos 0

The rematch of the top two teams in the division ended in a draw. Andover dominated most of the game with great play from midfielders Brian Gorrie, Ryan Nelson, Justin Murray and Henry Davidson. Gorrie had two great runs, dribbling past several defenders up the left wing. Mike Anderson held the Dynamos scoreless with support from defenders Vikas Goela, Ryan Slavin, Geordi Millotis and Danny Belacqua.

Under 10 Division

Hornets 2 - Praying Mantis' 5

Goals were scored by Brittany, assisted by Heather, and Jenny, who scored two, picking up a goalie kick from Joie and an assist from Jenna. Heather and Pam broke through the Hornets' defense and scored the remaining two goals. Missy, Elaine, Alice and Rachel blocked a dozen attempts on goal.

BOW: Alice Gregory (Praying Mantis').

Gypsy Moths 1 - Beetles 3

Gypsy Moths' only goal was scored by Megan Cuneo assisted by Melanie Burnett.

BOW: Katie Gustin, Kaitlin O'Malley, Ashley Ying (Gypsy Moths).

Yellow Jackets 0 - Crickets 1

Both teams were evenly matched through the game, demonstrated by the scoreless first three quarters. Christina Caselle, Samantha Hughes and Taryn Kalman played strong offensively. Hillary Cohen and Jessica Monarca held off the Crickets' offense.

BOW: Shannon Sweeney, Kelly Dey-ermond, Alyson Gerber (Yellow Jackets).

Amy DiAdamo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carmine DiAdamo, shattered single season assist records with her six points against Springfield when the Middlebury College women's lacrosse team brought its record to a perfect 10-0. She has 19 assists in 10 games.

Karen Queen of Andover, a junior attack for the Tufts University Jumbos lacrosse team, surpassed the 100 career points milestone in Tufts' 12-6 loss at Bates April 26.

She scored two goals to move her career totals to 83 goals and 18 assists for 101 points in 34 games. She is 10th on Tufts' all-time scoring list.

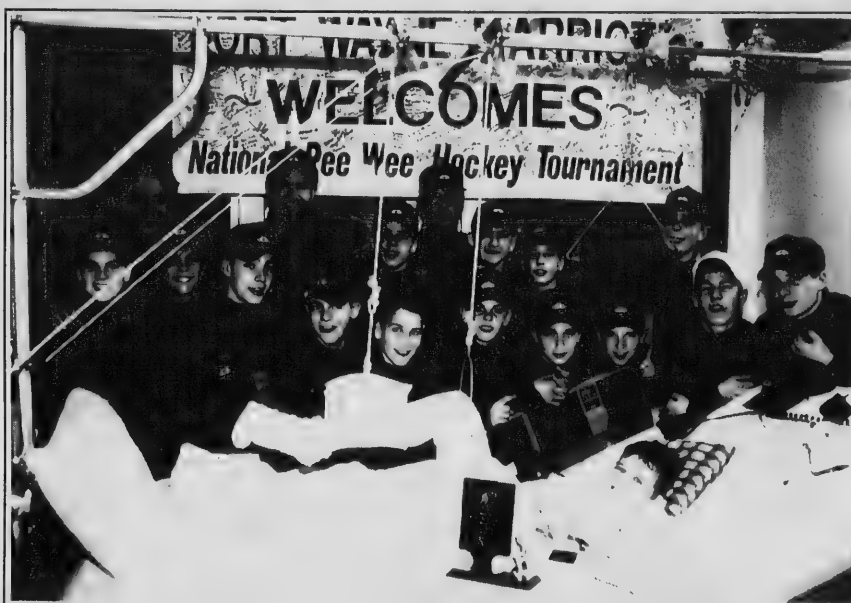

Queen had 27 goals this season. She netted six in a 16-4 win at Wellesley, five in a 17-3 win at Colby and four (with five assists) in an 18-4 win at Wheaton.

Queen led the team with 37 goals in 1993 and was a Northeast Region all-star. She added seven assists for 44 points, second on the squad. She contributed 19 goals and three assists for 22 points as a freshman.

The first time a hockey team from North Andover made it to the national competition, they came away the champions. The youth hockey PeeWee "A" team arrived home minus one player. Forward Tim Moulton, a student at Pike School, remained in a Fort Wayne hospital after breaking his leg in the third game of the tournament.

Tim underwent surgery to attach the skeletal traction needed to immobilize his leg and a few days later, as the rest of the team was returning to the classroom, he returned to surgery to have a metal rod inserted in his femur.

"Tim was disappointed that he couldn't compete in the final game, but he was proud of his teammates and was with them in spirit," said his dad, Doug Moulton, who called the entire game for him on cellular phone from the press box.

Tim faces several months of rehabilitation and conditioning before he can get back on skates, but with hard work and therapy, he should be back on the ice in time for next season. Fortunately, his therapy program began as soon as he

Jerry Sabath advocates for casual bikers

By Cindy Garrett Rayner

Jerry Sabath, a rusty bicyclist with a dusty 5-speed, would look out the window at his colleague peddling past the house on his 25-mile jaunt to work (because his car broke down). Empathy got the best of Mr. Sabath, who says, "It was the least I could do to join him for the last 10 miles of the trip!"

En route, Mr. Sabath, of 14 Glenmeadow Road, discovered how wonderful biking is and now has traveled to many places much more interesting than work.

A year later (1988), realizing that he was into biking for the long haul, Mr. Sabath traded in his 5-speed for an 18-speed Univega Gran Touring bike and signed up for his first big ride. He rode in a fund-raiser for Holy Family Hospital that covered 200 miles in two days, from Methuen to the top of Lake Winnepesaukee and back.

It was a memorable "wet ride" since it rained the whole first day. Then, three-quarters of the way back from New Hampshire, "I blew out the rear tire, not the type of thing you can fix yourself."

Mr. Sabath got on the sag wagon,

Jerry Sabath

(the van that picks up bikers in distress) and found a whole new rear tire, gears, spokes, rim and all. If he hadn't found that tire, Mr. Sabath swears, "I would have found a way to finish that race. I would have duct-taped the tire if I had to."

With his friend Jim Brown, he charted and trekked his most noteworthy trip. It was a three-day, 190-mile tour through the White Mountains over five mountain passes: the Kankamangus, Kinsman Notch, Pinkham Notch, Crawford Notch and Franconia Notch. If just reading that didn't take your breath away, remember that they were carrying camping gear and biking at altitudes of up to 2,822 feet above sea level.

Last summer, Mr. Sabath took his longest ride, from Andover to Bethlehem, N.H., (145 miles) "in one very long day". His secret to endurance is "to ride and ride and ride." And, of course, drink lots of water, "a pint an hour at least."

Dressed for success, he wears Lycra shorts and shirts, a helmet and touring shoes that don't lock into the pedal.

Like a Bud Light commercial, Mr. Sabath has combined biking with family gatherings. He takes a yearly bike trip with cousins Andy, David and Bob Weil (originally from Andover). They have biked through Massachusetts, Maryland and Wisconsin. His wife, Kathy, loves to bike casually. His daughter, Debbie, loves to ride with friends, but son, Mark, prefers four wheels to two.

Mr. Sabath does minor repairs to his bike, such as changing a tire or adjusting the shifters, and what he can't do, he leaves to Bill Fox at his favorite bike shop, Foxco in Dracut.

As an active member of the Andover Bicycling Committee, Mr. Sabath works hard to promote a more bicycle-friendly environment. He has worked with the town planners to incorporate bikers' needs into the Master Plan. He has worked with the town manager to try to identify bike routes through town. He has worked with the Andover Trails Committee to encourage the Shawsheen Greenway Project (a project that would set aside trails along the Shawsheen River for easy access for handicapped, bikers, walkers and in-line skaters). He has even worked with the town to get the sewer grates rotated so bike treads don't get stuck.

Thanks to a friend with a broken car, Mr. Sabath took up biking. Thanks to Mr. Sabath's bicycle advocacy efforts, many Andover residents may take up biking, too.

If all this talk about biking has got you raring to go, then try joining in. Through the spring and summer, Mr.

Sabath and the Andover Bicycle Committee will host bike outings once a month on Sundays beginning May 22. The rides range from 5-25 miles - making some perfect for families and others good for the serious bikers. Watch the Townsmen for details.

The Department of Community Service also offers a summer cycling program every Thursday night at 6:30 beginning June 23. Meet in the town office parking lot and be ready to roll.

John Twomey is both a mountain biker and road racer

By Cindy Garrett Rayner

John Twomey isn't too picky about weather - he'll go out in sun or rain. And he's not too choosy about terrain. He'll go on roads or rocks. But Mr. Twomey's very selective about his traveling partners - his bikes.

He's very proud of his Trek 9800 carbon-fiber mountain bike ($3,000) as well as his specialized Epico carbon-fiber street bike ($1,600). He's kept a journal of his travels and averages between 5,000 and 6,000 miles a year on

Mr. Twomey's longest ride was part of a biathlon, where he ran for 6 miles, then biked for 35 miles. His strategy for speed is 'to be consistent.'

these handlebarred companions.

Mr. Twomey, an employee at the Andover Water Department, began biking at age 37 when he decided to train for his first biathlon (running and biking). After that, the wheels kept turning. His mountain-biking wheels hit the woods of Lynn, street-biking tires hit the pavement in the old North Andover Kiwanis' runs, and now Mr. Twomey's racing in the Master's Division (45 years and up) all over New England.

The average length of the races he rides in are 20-35 miles long and could be anywhere in Maine, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut and, most recently, Rhode Island. In the Rhode Island race, called "Horticultural Hell," it was raining so hard that the Eastern Fat Tire Association - the group calculating the results - has such setbacks that he's still waiting for his time and rank.

Mr. Twomey's longest ride was part of a biathlon, where he ran for 6

Andy Chiaraluce

Andy Chiaraluce, age 10, son of Alan and Claudia Chiaraluce of Andover recently won the championship trophy during the Thoreau Junior Championships in Concord, Mass., Boys 10 and under Tennis Tournament. Sponsored by the New England Junior Tennis Association, the championships were held April 22-24.

Andy played in a round-robin format and beat his first-round opponents 6-0, 6-1, and 6-4. Andy is currently a member of the Cedarvale Boys Junior Tennis Team, who recently won the championships in the winter Northeast Junior Tennis Association.

Andy is a 4th grader at West Elementary School and also plays for the Indians in the Andover Major Little League Association, and the Jets in the Andover Soccer Association.

Jeremy Gibson, an Andover resident, has been named captain of Bowdoin College's 1995 baseball team. A three-year starter for the Polar Bears, Gibson finished the 1994 season hitting at a .407 clip, bringing his career average to .344.

Gibson is a graduate of Conestoga High School in Berwyn, Penn., where he was a two-time all-scholastic and finalist for the 1991 Pennsylvania player-of-the-year honors. He established Pennsylvania interscholastic records with a two-grand slam, 10-RBI game vs. Haverford High School in May 1991.

Gibson began playing baseball in the Andover Little League in 1981, before his family relocated to Pennsylvania. His family returned to Andover last year. The junior psychology major was president of his high school senior class and a national merit scholar.

Hilary Driscoll, 11 Forbes Lane, coxed the Williams College men's varsity heavyweight-eight crew to the New England championship last weekend.

In addition, this past Sunday, her boat earned a fourth place finish at the Champion International Regatta at Occoquan, Va. This national invitational regatta included teams from across the country.

The crew won the Augusta, Ga., Invitational in March and had a near perfect record during the New England spring competition season.

In 1991, Ms. Driscoll was the coxswain for the United States women's eight at the Junior World races at Banyoles, Spain, earning a fifth-place finish.

A varsity member of the women's crew team for four years at Phillips Academy, she led the team to the New England Interscholastic Championship in 1991. She has medalled several times at the National Rowing Championships at Indianapolis, coxing both PA's and national selection camp women's teams.

Hilary Driscoll

Ms. Driscoll, 21, studies international relations and Russian studies at Williams College in Williamstown. She is the daughter of Jack and Alix Driscoll.

Muhlenberg College junior Chris Hall of Andover won two track events at the 1994 Centennial Conference Outdoor Championships, held on May 7 and 8 at Gettysburg College.

Hall, a sprinter, won the 100 meters in 11.17 seconds and the 200 meters in 22.73. In both races, he overtook the first-place runner in the final 2-3 meters to pull out the victory. It is believed that Hall is the first Muhlenberg track athlete ever to win two events at a conference championship meet.

For his efforts during the season, which included setting school records in the 100 and 200, Hall recently was honored as the men's track team's "Player's Player" at the College's all-sports awards dinner.

The Player's Player is each varsity sport's most valuable player, as decided upon a team vote. In addition to athletic performance, the spirit of the award encompasses qualities of leadership, loyalty and support of teammates.

Hall has been named captain of the 1994-95 squad by head coach Bill Donahue.

"Some people get off their bikes and push them, and then get back on. I think it's better to just get through the obstacles even if you have to go slowly - it's not necessarily a speed thing - just stay on your bike."

As far as equipment, his bike is repaired by his trusted friends at the Cycle Stop in South Lawrence.

"I'm one of their best customers!"

John Twomey

His most memorable trek to date was The Second Start race in Ware, N.H. Mr. Twomey describes the 27.6 mile route as the "most physically demanding race I'd ever been in. It was hills and mud, rocks and roots - very technical."

In the clothing department, Mr. Twomey swears by Lycra pants with padding, Lycra shirts with pockets for food, and foot-lock peddles. And, of course, he always wears a helmet. Good thing, too, because even a pro like Mr. Twomey admits, "I've gone over the handlebars a few times."

His most memorable trek to date was The Second Start race in Ware, N.H. Mr. Twomey describes the 27.6 mile route as the "most physically demanding race I'd ever been in. It was hills and mud, rocks and roots - very technical."

But you can tell by his tone of voice that he would do it again and again and again.

Mr. Twomey hopes that Andover will act as an advocate for bicyclists by reducing speed limits on side streets and adding bike lanes where possible. He wants more people to feel safe while they enjoy the sport he loves so much.

Area cyclists getting ready for North Shore Tour de Cure

Tips for getting bikes tuned up for the Tour and the rest of the biking season

With summer just around the corner, bicycling enthusiasts are getting ready to kick off the season with an exciting event for a great cause.

The North Shore Tour de Cure on Sunday, June 5, in Danvers will raise funds to find a cure for diabetes, a disease that affects nearly 400,000 Massachusetts residents.

Bicycle mechanics say now is the time for cyclists to get their bikes tuned up and they offer the following tips.

1. Check your tires and make sure they're inflated to the proper pressure.

Time and temperature can cause deflation. Properly inflated tires will minimize wheel damage and flat tires.

2. Check your brake pads. Salt in the air and time can cause them to dry out, increasing the chance of accidents. Replace the pads if necessary.

3. Get yourself a lightweight, cool helmet to wear at all times. Up to 90 percent of all cycling injuries are head injuries - protect yourself.

4. If you are planning any long-distance cycling, invest in a good pair of gloves. They minimize hand fatigue during long rides, and reduce hand pain and stress caused by constant vibration.

5. When getting back into shape this season, you'll shape up faster by increasing your cycling time and distance gradually, rather than increasing the difficulty of your ride. Cycling at a most steady, comfortable pace also helps to prevent injury. Most physical strains happen early in the season.

Ski Market in Danvers, Bay Road Bikes in Hamilton, Seaside Cycle in Manchester and R.E.I. will be providing mechanical support to cyclists at the start/finish line, as well as along the routes. Registered Tour de Cure participants will also receive a tuneup discount at Ski Market, Bay Road Bikes or Seaside Cycle.

The North Shore Tour starts at the St. John's Prep School on Spring Street in Danvers, with a "Show and Go" start from 8 to 9:30 a.m. Riders can choose from three distances - 25K, 50K or 100K. There is a $15 registration fee ($20 after May 31) plus a $50 minimum pledge.

To sign up for the Tour de Cure, call the Cycle Hotline at 1-800-TOUR-888.

Bicycling group plans 10-mile ride

The Andover Bicycling Committee is sponsoring a casual bike ride through the streets of Andover Sunday, May 22.

The group will leave from the town office parking lot on Bartlet Street at 1:30 p.m. and ride approximately 10 miles along a variety of roads in Andover.

The group expects to complete the loop around 3 p.m.

Riders of all ages are welcome.

Members of the committee ask riders to note that helmets are required.

For further information, call Jerry Sabath at 475-1159.

YMCA offers lifeguarding course

The Lawrence YMCA will host a lifeguarding course from May 27 through June 11.

Students must be 15 years old and must be certified in first aid and CPR before they can receive their lifeguard certificate.

This course will provide the individual with the knowledge and skills to save themselves and others in aquatic emergencies. The course is also a prerequisite to state and local lifeguard employment.

PHILLIPS ACADEMY SCOREBOARD

Girls softball

The girls softball team at Phillips Academy improved to 10-1 after a comeback victory over Deerfield Academy.

Trailing 5-1 in the third inning, the Big Blue rallied for the next 10 runs to win the game, 11-1. Leading the offensive onslaught was Jane Peachy. She went 3 for 4 at the plate, scored two runs, and had one RBI. Andover native Jessie Drench also contributed two RBI's. Pitcher Molly Bell upped her record on the mound to 8-1.

The team also won against North Reading High earlier in the week, 2-1. Once again Peachy led the way by going 2 for 3 at the plate and driving in one run. Bell and Jill Cassie both went 1 for 3 and each scored a run. Jessie Drench pitched for the Blue.

Girls track

The girls track team rolled over Loomis Chaffee and Cushing Academy as they remain perfect with a 9-0 record.

Captain Leslie Dise broke her own school record in the triple jump for Phillips with a spectacular 35'5 1/2". This was the third consecutive week that Dise has broken her own triple jump record. She also recorded a personal best in the high jump and tied her school record with 5'6" versus Loomis.

Returning to the field after a bout with mono was Becky Dowling. In her first meet this year Becky blew away the competition in the discus with an amazing throw of 112 feet. Phillips also dominated the 4x400 and the 4x100 in each of the meets.

Girls lacrosse

The girls lacrosse team staged a dramatic comeback over Thayer Academy as they earned the victory, 16-15.

Thayer jumped out to a quick 4-0 lead in the first few minutes of play. The shocked Phillips' team could not generate any goals despite many shots at the Thayer keeper. The team found themselves trailing 10-4 at the half. Despite an inspirational halftime talk by coach Kathy Henderson, Thayer scored another quick two goals after the half. Down 12-4 with only twenty minutes to play, the Phillips' team pounded the Thayer goalie with shots and found themselves tied 15-15 with 3 minutes to play. Nicole Rhodes would score the winning goal a mere thirty seconds later and the Big Blue held on for the remaining time.

Rhodes finished the game with 4 goals and a more impressive 6 assists. Andover native Heidi Cline notched three goals of her own and Ali Coughlin also netted a hat trick. Meghan Madera had perhaps her best game of the season with four goals. The team's record is 8-1. They will prepare for their New England tournament this coming weekend as they look to defend their prep school championship from 1993.

Boys lacrosse

The boys lacrosse team split their two games this week winning 15-5 versus Milton but then dropping a game to Concord-Carlisle High, 11-10.

Captain Henry Higdon led his team over Milton with four goals and two assists. Junior scoring sensation Parker Sides tallied two goals and added five assists versus Milton. Leads kept changing hands in the Concord-Carlisle game but Concord would sneak in one more goal in the final period of play to earn the victory. Ben Haddon and Pete Chivers, both of Andover, tallied one goal apiece. Sides and Higdon each had a hat trick for the Blue. The boys record is 8-3.

Boys tennis

The boys tennis team also split its two matches this week earning a victory over Moses Brown, 13-5, and losing a match to Choate, 5-4. John Stubbs (No. 2 singles), Ethan Schonbrum (No. 4), Marc Syp (No. 5) and Chris Flygare (No. 6) won their singles matches. All three Big Blue doubles teams also earned wins.

N.E. cycling races

Andover hosted the New England cycling championships this past Sunday. Behind the outstanding riding of cycling phenom Justin Spence and Greg Whitmore, the boys captured the New England title. The girls team performed equally as well and earned second place.

Baseball

The baseball team dropped their first two games of the season to a much weaker Phillips Exeter squad. In the doubleheader, Andover fell, 9-7 and 6-5, respectively. Andover native Brian Flanagan led the team in the opener going 2 for 4 and one RBI. The second game went into extra innings behind some outstanding pitching by Dan Kiewlich. Also playing well for Andover were Josh Carroll (2 for 4, scored one run) and Judd Brackett (2 for 4).

In a weekend doubleheader versus Deerfield, Phillips dropped the first game, 9-1. In the second, game Andover native Mike Sullivan changed the tide of the game in the fourth inning. He blasted a two-run single in the fourth as the team went on to score seven runs in the inning. Todd Harris, also of Andover, and Flanagan had two hits apiece.

Crew

The boys and girls crew teams faced Exeter and Tabor this past weekend. The only PA boat to capture first was the first girls boat. Locals Courtney Peck and Leah Henderson row for the first boat.

AHS baseball team sweeps four games to regain top spot

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High baseball team plowed through a long but successful four-game week in grand style, sweeping to four straight victories and regaining first place in the Large School Division of the Merrimack Valley Conference.

The Golden Warriors, with Todd Murray (6-0 record) picking up three pitching victories, rallied to edge Chelmsford 4-3 in nine innings, battled back from a 2-0 deficit to defeat Lowell 8-3 in their top-spot showdown, and blasted Dracut 26-12 in a slugfest made possible by gusty, swirling winds and depleted pitching corps.

"It was a great week for us," said Coach Ken Maglio. "We played some terrific ball before the Dracut game. Our bats really came alive in that one, but it was a tough way to end the week. The wind was a big factor and the pitchers on both sides were tired because it was the fourth game in five days."

Andover, four-time reigning MVC champs, began the week riding a five-game win streak.

AHS stood 8-2 in the league and 10-3 overall, one game ahead of co-runners-up Central Catholic and Lowell (both 7-3).

Andover needed two more wins to qualify for the Eastern Mass. Division 1 North Tournament, and may have picked them up earlier this week in games at Methuen and Haverhill.

Tomorrow, Friday, May 20, the locals collide with Central Catholic in a huge game at Merrimack College (3:30 p.m.), and next week the regular season concludes with a home game versus Lowell (Monday), a road game at Chelmsford (Wednesday) and two games in the four-team Lawrence Invitational Tournament at Mark Devlin Field Friday and Sunday.

Andover 4

Chelmsford 3 (9 innings)

The Golden Warriors won this one when Lions' relief pitcher John Myers balked home the winning run in the bottom of the ninth.

Winning pitcher Matt Wolcott (1-0) drew a one-out walk in the stanza, and then advanced to third base on a throwing error during a rundown after he was apparently picked off.

Toby Guzowski was then hit by a pitch and, when he went to steal second base, the startled Chelmsford hurler pulled his throwing hand out of his glove while on the mound. That constitutes a balk and Wolcott received a free ride home with the winning run.

Tomorrow, Friday, May 20, the locals collide with Central Catholic in a huge game at Merrimack College (3:30 p.m.).

Wolcott, the last of three AHS pitchers, tossed 3.2 innings of one-hit, shutout relief. He struck out three and walked three.

Senior righthander Tim Caverly kept Chelmsford close through the middle innings, replacing lefty starter Cris Brown and yielding two runs in five hits over 3.2 innings. Caverly fanned two and didn't walk a batter.

The Golden Warriors grabbed a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the first when leadoff batter Jeff Lembo ripped a triple to right and scored on Mike Maguire's sacrifice fly.

The Lions, who left the bases loaded in both the first and second innings, took advantage of Brown's wildness to tie it 1-1 in the second. Consecutive walks to Paul Branco, Myers and Mike Maher loaded the bases with two outs, and Jason Fredette greeted Caverly with a first-pitch "swinging bunt" single to plate the run.

Further trouble was averted when first baseman Guzowski knocked down Dick Trainor's sharp grounder and flipped to Caverly for the third out.

In the first, Brown escaped a one-out, bases-loaded jam with a strikeout and groundout to second baseman Tom Tanin.

Andover regained the lead in the bottom of the second as Dana McCann hammered a leadoff triple and crossed on Bob Daley's one-out double.

The visitors pulled even again at 2-2 in the fourth as Ryan Murphy laced a leadoff double and scored on Branco's single to center.

The teams traded runs in the sixth, Chelmsford taking its first lead when Ryan Ducheneau singled, Branco singled, Myers walked and Maher dropped a suicide squeeze bunt.

Andover came back, however, to force extra innings as freshman Brian Tisbert was hit by a pitch, stole second, advanced to third on Daley's long fly-ball out, and scored on Paul Allard's clutch single to left.

That set the stage for the Wolcott-Guzowski heroics in the ninth.

Wolcott, McCann and Daley led the nine-hit Warriors' offense with two hits, Wolcott also rapping a triple.

Jeff Lembo played a strong defensive game at third base, while Dana McCann opened the second inning by throwing out Ducheneau at first base after he lined a sharp one-hopper to right field.

Andover 8 Lowell 3

The Golden Warriors rallied for three runs in the fifth and five more in the sixth at Lowell's Alumni Field to knock the Red Raiders out of first place.

Ace Todd Murray, with 2.2 innings of adequate relief on two days rest, notched his second pitching victory of the week.

Andover had a serious threat against LHS starter Steve Cushing in the top of the second, loading the bases on a walk to Toby Guzowski, one-out walk to Tom Gardner and a single by Bob Daley. But Paul Allard's soft infield liner was turned into an inning-ending double play.

Lowell took a 2-0 lead and chased sophomore starter George Secchiaroli in the bottom of the stanza. Consecutive one-out walks to Jason Sun, Joe Durkin and Dan MacLaughlan loaded the bases, at which point Dan Martin lofted a sacrifice fly and Sean Casey ripped an RBI single.

Once again Tim Caverly entered and held the fort for 2.2 frames, yielding two hits and one run while walking two.

Andover was frustrated again in the fourth when Cushing escaped another bases-loaded situation with two strikeouts. Andover had jammed the sacks with one out when Guzowski was hit in the back with a pitch, Dana McCann beat out an infield roller and Daley walked.

The locals finally broke through with three unearned runs in the fifth to take a brief 3-2 lead.

Jeff Lembo reached on an error to start the inning, and with two down Guzowski walked, McCann lashed an RBI single to left, Gardner walked to load the bases, and Daley dumped a perfectly-placed two-run single inches inside the left field line.

Lowell tied it in the bottom of the stanza when Caverly walked Dan Graham, Kevin Curtis singled to left, and Jason Sun ripped a two-out RBI single up the middle against Murray. Joe Durkin's grounder was then misplayed in the infield, but Curtis inexplicably tried to score from second base and was out by 20 feet on a throw from shortstop Matt Wolcott to catcher Paul Allard.

The Warriors batted around in the pivotal five-run sixth. Tom Tanin singled to center, Lembo walked and both scored when Mike Maguire dropped a perfect sacrifice bunt and the pitcher threw wildly to first base.

Wolcott and Guzowski drew consecutive walks, Maguire raced home on a passed ball, Wolcott beat the throw home on McCann's fielder's-choice grounder, and Allard's infield hit rescued Guzowski with the final run.

The Red Raiders laced two more hits off Murray in the sixth, but took themselves out of the inning when Casey was nailed at the plate on a perfect relay from right fielder McCann to first baseman Guzowski to catcher Allard.

Dan Graham launched the Lowell seventh with a double, but Wolcott made a nice defensive play to retire Curtis, Lembo made an acrobatic catch off Mickey Durkin's foul pop, and the final out came when Joe Durkin lined to Wolcott.

Andover managed just six hits with McCann and Daley contributing two each.

Andover 26 Dracut 12

Matt Wolcott hit for the cycle as the Golden Warriors crushed Dracut, scoring every inning except the second en route to their highest single-game outburst in recent memory.

Wolcott was 5-for-5 with seven RBI and three runs scored, blasting a mammoth three-run homer to center field and adding a triple, double and two singles.

Jeff Lembo was close behind with four hits, six runs scored and three RBI, while Toby Guzowski lashed two safeties and had four ribbies.

Dana McCann produced two hits and two RBI, Brian Tisbert had three hits and scored three runs, Mike Maguire doubled, singled and scored three runs, Tom Tanin had two singles, two RBI and scored three runs, and Pete Daniels singled, walked twice and scored three runs.

Dracut countered with 13 hits, including a solo home run by losing pitcher Pete McMahon and a three-hit, four-RBI afternoon from cleanup batter Frank Myers.

Todd Murray earned his third victory in five days with four innings of work. Jeff Lembo was effective in relief, pitching 2.2 innings of three-hit ball while fanning three and walking one. The only run he surrendered was unearned.

Andover scored eight runs in the top of the first, added five in both the fourth and fifth frames, and closed things out with four runs in the sixth and three in the seventh after the Mid-dies had "closed" the gap to 19-12.

Legion Post registration and tryouts this Sunday, May 22

The Andover American Legion Post 8 baseball team will hold its first 1994 registration and tryout session this Sunday, May 22, from 4:30 to 7 p.m. at the Andover High varsity field.

All roster spots are open and everyone, including players who were on the team last year, must attend the tryout.

All Andover residents at least 16 years of age, and who will not turn 19 before Aug. 1, 1994, are eligible to play.

If any additional tryouts are necessary the dates and times will be announced at the conclusion of Sunday's session.

Andover Post 8 is the two-time defending Zone 8-8A and district champion, having qualified for the eight-team State Tournament in both 1992 and 1993.

The team will be coached by Joe Lar-robino, Steve Tisbert and Dick Allard.

The first Legion game is scheduled for Saturday, June 11, at Saugus.

The locals will play through June and July, with the Legion Tournament starting the third week of July.

AHS tennis teams continue winning ways

By Rick Harrison

Senior Captain Alison Georgian, who has lost just one Merrimack Valley Conference match in four years, swept to easy 6-0, 6-0 victories over Haverhill's Samantha Cerasulo and Methuen's Lisa Metropolis to spark the undefeated Andover High girls tennis team to several more 5-0 whitewashes recently.

The routs of Wilmington, Methuen, Haverhill and Tewksbury boosted the Lady Warriors to 12-0 overall, two matches ahead of second-place Chelmsford (10-2) and in position to clinch another MVC title tomorrow when the Lions visit the AHS courts (3:30) for the next-to-last match of the regular season.

The Chelmsford girls are the only opponent to score a point against either Andover net squad this season, the Lady Warriors winning their first meeting 4-1. Everything else has been 5-0.

The AHS boys also remained untouchable with recent 5-0 wins over Central Catholic, Haverhill, Wilmington, Methuen and Tewksbury as No. 1 singles' standout Dan Queen (10-0 this spring) led the way.

The AHS boys, 13-0 overall entering this week's play, have officially clinched the conference Large School Division championship for the eighth time in the last 10 years.

Both local squads host Chelmsford tomorrow, play at Lowell next Monday (Shedd Park, 3:30), and the boys have a regular-season finale on Wednesday at home versus Central Catholic.

Both Andover teams will be seeded high in the Eastern Mass. Division 1 North Tournament which opens later this month.

Georgian dominant

Georgian, a two-time MVC Player-of-the-Year who will grace the courts at the University of New Hampshire in Durham next fall, continues to dominate her conference opponents.

Former Lawrence No. 1 Jodie Stadelman is the only MVC foe to beat Alison, who began playing tennis during the summer at Indian Ridge Country Club as a budding 10-year-old prospect.

"We live close to the club, my family had a membership there, and playing tennis in the sun all day was fun," recalled Alison. "My parents also play but they have never pushed or pressured me."

"I have a friend who has helped me a lot, and I guess I've been successful because I work hard at it and practice all the time," said Ms. Georgian.

This past February, for example, she spent the winter school vacation in Florida at the well-known Bollesteri Tennis Camp.

"It was a pretty steady diet of tennis. Eight hours a day," she explained.

Alison, who played soccer (fall) at AHS and has competed in gymnastics, will concentrate on tennis at UNH.

She was also recruited by such schools as Villanova, Colby, North Carolina-Charlotte, UMass-Amherst and Bates.

Bates (Lewiston, Maine) is where older sister Andrea, also a No. 1 player at Andover High, was senior captain and No. 1 singles for the Bobcats this past year. Andrea, who hopes to teach school (and aerobics) locally after graduation, provided Alison with a strong practice partner for several years.

"I'm basically a baseline player," said Alison, "but Mr. (coach Tony) Russo is always trying to get me to go to the net more. I'm working on it."

Ms. Georgian is ranked 16th in the New England Lawn Tennis Association (NELTA) women's 18 A-Division, a highly-competitive circuit where she has run the gamut of reaching the finals of a tournament and also being knocked out in the opening round.

Alison appears to have a lock on her third straight MVC Player-of-the-Year award, standing 7-0 this spring and 46-3 overall (including state tournament play) for her AHS career.

She'd also like to add a State Team Tournament title, although seven-time defending Division 1 champion Concord-Carlisle (11 titles in 12 years) once again will be favored.

"They may be beatable this year," said Ms. Georgian. "We'll see."

Andover girls

The Lady Warriors' conference win streak has grown to 61 straight matches, and the locals are 13-1 in their last 135 MVC outings and 144-8 in the last 152 overall.

In addition to Georgian's overpowering win against Haverhill, singles victories were chalked up by freshman No. 2 Heather Young (9-0) and junior No. 3 Jen Griffin (5-0).

Young handled Anne Marie Driscoll 6-1, 6-0 and Griffin coasted past Heidi O'Wrl 6-2, 6-2.

In doubles, sophomore Andrea Marvin and junior Jackie LeMaitre (6-0) defeated Ellyn Torosian and Christina Murphy 6-2, 6-1.

Sophomores Cindy Su and Meghan Pauley became one of 12 different doubles combinations this spring and romped 6-1, 6-2 over the Hillies' tandem of Erika Anderson and Stacey Albanese.

In the 5-0 blitz of Wilmington, only one game was lost in singles as Heather Young blasted Jeannie Cassinello and Jen Griffin blanked Kerri Oakleaf by 6-0, 6-0 scores while Meghan Pauley (5-0) stopped Jee Kun 6-0, 6-1.

Juniors Kelly Mitchell and Melissa Guerrero trimmed Melanie Johnson and Amy Hermann 6-2, 6-4 at No. 1 doubles, while senior Erin Cowhig and Captain Laura Cavicchi teamed for the first time and handled the Wildcats' Allison Murray and Jessica Roberts 6-0, 6-1.

Methuen was trashed 5-0 as Georgian humbled Lisa Metropolis 6-0, 6-0 at No. 1 singles, Jen Griffin moved up to No. 2 singles and struggled past the Rangers' Rebecca DelDuca 7-6, 1-6, 6-2, and Kelly Mitchell received her singles' baptism at No. 3 and responded with a 6-1, 6-1 romp over Nicole White.

Top doubles tandem Andrea Marvin and Jackie LeMaitre bageled Jill Packard and Masumi Patel 6-0, 6-0, and the Cindy Su-Meghan Pauley duo was almost as stingy in a 6-1, 6-0 decision over Sarita Patel and Tara Lebel.

Winless Tewksbury only had four girls for its match against Andover, so No. 1 singles Jen Griffin and No. 1 doubles Erin Cowhig and Laura Cavicchi were awarded victories by default.

Meghan Pauley clouted Julie Pereira 6-1, 6-0 at second singles, Kelly Mitchell ripped Dianna Martel 6-0, 6-0 at third singles, and the new doubles' team of freshmen Catherine Bakulski and Dara Ekster played like senior veterans in a 6-0, 6-0 sweep of Michelle Ward and Christina Golen.

Andover boys

The Golden Warriors dropped just seven games in 10 sets en route to victory over second-place Large School Division team Central Catholic.

Senior Captain Dan Queen sauntered to a 6-3, 6-1 victory over the Red Raiders' Frank Ferrucci at first singles.

Sophomore Mike Stein (8-0) was merciless in a 6-0, 6-0 blitz of Steve

It is finally golf season – then again, it's always

A look at a few of those whacky golfers and what makes them drive, chip, putt, slice and hook

Golf is a swinging sport at AHS

By Alix Driscoll

At Andover High School, golf is a fall sport and a very successful one.

In 1993, the AHS team completed a 13-2 season, a record that would make other towns green with envy. Consistently, the team earns champion or co-champion status in the Merrimack Valley, according to Bob Lawson, the Andover High School golf coach and math teacher. He is approaching his 250th win as a coach. The AHS golf team plays both a long and short school format.

Several of the AHS golfers, seniors Mike Mazza, co-captain Mark Escott, Brian Hussey, Adam Anderson and Matt Johnson, plan to continue their game in college. In the spring, individual golfers at AHS qualify for and compete in state-level tournaments. Sophomore Dave Shaffer, of 27 Algonquin Ave., has qualified for the state finals. Sophomore Jeff Mazza will play in a regional tournament in Canton.

Name: Dave Shaffer

Address: 27 Algonquin Ave.

Age: 16, AHS sophomore.

Club: Indian Ridge Country Club.

Handicap: 4.

He is co-captain and No. 1 player for the AHS team, Merrimack Valley player of the year and qualified for the state finals.

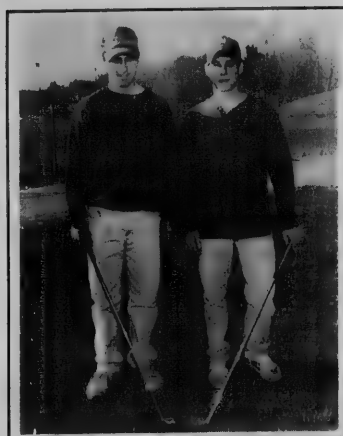

Mr. Shaffer started golfing when he was 2 or 3 years old, when his dad, Howard, a scratch player, took him out to Far Corner Golf Course and began to teach him. He played baseball from age 8 to age 11. When he moved to Algonquin Drive he took up golf again because his home is on the course. He has been playing seriously for three years.

In June, Mr. Shaffer will play in a state tournament in western Massachusetts as an individual. In preparation for the state finals he has been practicing several hours each day.

Custom-club maker John Curry started off as a caddy

By Christina Bracero

John Curry makes golf clubs. In fact, he's one of an elite group of international club makers.

Mr. Curry, of 6 Forrest Drive, has earned the rank of Class A Clubmaker from the Professional Clubmakers' Society, a non-profit organization based in Louisville, Ky., whose goal is to preserve the game of golf, according to Mr. Curry.

Golf-club makers wishing to become ranked Class A must pass a test that includes questions varying from assemblage of a club, to United States Golf Association rules.

To earn the Class A ranking, a person must earn a grade of 80 percent or better.

Mr. Curry met all the requirements and joined a small group of 247 Class A club-makers worldwide.

Now golfers who want to be assured of a good custom-made golf club can visit Mr. Curry's shop, The Golf Work Shop, at 289 Main St. in North Reading.

Three years ago he bought the business from a person who had owned it for six years. Mr. Curry was in the computer business as a sales manager before he bought the shop.

He started making golf clubs 20 years ago as a hobby.

"I'm by no means a novice," he said.

As a boy he didn't play golf, although he caddied to make some spending money. He only began playing in his late 20s. He had been making clubs because he had worked in some factories that make golf clubs. He was helping automate the factories.

Today, at his North Reading shop, he has some used clubs for beginners, a swing- and speed-testing area, shoes and golf balls—but no clothes.

"I always say, 'I'll get you on the first tee, but I don't do clothing,'" said Mr. Curry.

A good part of his business is repairing clubs.

John Champion tees off tourney to benefit rare disease

Julie Champion, 15, of Andover was born with a rare congenital syndrome of an unknown cause. She is a friendly child who happens to be small in stature and retarded. Julie has what is known as Cornelia de Lange Syndrome (CdLS).

Julie attends the E.P.I.C. program at Doherty School through the Greater Lawrence Education Collaborative. She is beginning to communicate using pictures. She loves to hold hands and go for walks. Her little accomplishments are major triumphs.

Julie's father, John Champion, and Brian O'Keefe, a father from Salem, Mass., have organized and are co-chairmen of the second annual CdLS Charity Golf Tournament at the Beverly Golf and Tennis Club, 134 McKay St., Beverly, on Monday, May 23, at 1 p.m.

This year's tournament is dedicated to the memory of Allison Wells from a 4-year-old child with CdLS, who died unexpectedly in March.

Rhode Island,

Proceeds will go to the foundation to expand research and support services. Hole and tee sponsorships and participation in the event, including golfing, cart and dinner, are $100. Donations of any amount and gifts for a fund-raising raffle would be appreciated.

Children with this rare syndrome tend to suffer from delayed growth and a variety of other problems, such as seizures, heart defects, cleft palate, bowel abnormalities, feeding difficulties, developmental delay and a short life span.

Because the children are unable to communicate, their frequent illnesses are very difficult to diagnose. For example, when Julie was 5 years old, she stopped eating and went through months of tests before being diagnosed as having gastroesophageal reflux, a condition that allows stomach acids to burn the esophagus, making eating extremely painful.

Through the efforts of the Cornelia de Lange Syndrome Foundation, that condition is now known to be common among CdLS children, with more than 60 percent of the children nationwide requiring surgery to correct the condition before the age of 5.

Since the syndrome is so rare, there is a great dependence among CdLS families for new medical information. Fifteen years ago, a group of 40 CdLS families from all across the country found each other to exchange information and support. That group has developed into The Cornelia de Lange Syndrome Foundation, an international, not-for profit organization. Julie's mom, Shelly, is the foundation's regional coordinator for Massachusetts and Rhode Island. She makes personal contact with newly diagnosed families to provide support and organizes gatherings for New England families.

Contributions may be made to The Cornelia de Lange Syndrome Foundation Inc, in care of John L. Champion, 24 Wethersfield Drive, Andover, Mass. 01810. For information, call the Champions at 474-8823.

Billings memorial tourney set for July 5 at Andover CC

The third annual Alexander M. Billings Memorial Jimmy Fund Golf Tournament will tee off Tuesday, July 5, at Andover Country Club.

The fund-raiser is being organized by friends and family of Alexander, who died in September 1991 at age 2 after a long battle with brain cancer. Alex was the son of Matthew and Betsy Billings and grandson of Robert and Estelle Billings of Bartlett Street.

"We have been very fortunate with the first two tournaments, raising nearly $50,000 for the Jimmy Fund," said Larry Lamagna, one of the event organizers.

"It is a perfect day to have some fun, support a very worthy cause and remember little Alex," said Tim Barry, a long-time friend of the family.

The day will include brunch, golf, cart and dinner; or just dinner for non-golfers. There is a donation of $140 for the full day of activity or $40 for dinner only. Businesses are sponsoring holes for $300. Prizes include round-trip airline tickets for two, weekend get-aways, golf clubs, autographed sports memorabilia and other prizes.

"Alex displayed such courage in his battle, but without funds to support the ongoing research and medical care, it is inevitable that more and more children and adults will suffer from this tragic disease," said Alex's father.

Those who would like to participate, donate raffle and auction items, or sponsor a hole can call Tim Barry, at 475-2033, or Larry Lamagna, at 475-0317.

Meade at second singles, and senior captain Adam Monahan made mincemeat of Anthony Pappalardo 6-0, 6-2 at third singles.

Senior Captain Jon Iarrobino and sophomore Kurt Dahlstrand were perfect partners in a 6-0, 6-0 rout of the CCHS tandem of Darrell Noonan and Joel Brain at No. 1 doubles.

Seniors Akil Palinsamy and Will Hall teamed for the first time this spring, hammering Dave Burke and Mike Farnell 6-0, 6-1.

In the 5-0 decision over Haverhill, Queen pounded out a 6-0, 6-1 victory over Justin Cifra.

Monahan (10-0) moved up to No. 2 singles and hammered out a 6-0, 6-0 win over Alex Leung.

Andy Ravens (2-0) struggled early and then coasted to a 5-7, 6-2, 6-0 triumph over Justin Lupe.

Iarrobino and Dahlstrand (9-0) were again in perfect sync during a second straight 6-0, 6-0 bagel of Andy Stevens and Matt Anderson.

Palinsamy and Hall returned for an encore performance at No. 2 doubles, and didn't falter in a 6-0, 6-0 blitz of Andre Andrade and Jimmy Rubera.

Against Wilmington, the Golden Warriors dominated singles with Queen dissecting Mark Trinchera 6-0, 6-0, Mike Stein (10-0) carving up Pat Cahill 6-1, 6-1, and Kurt Dahlstrand making his debut at No. 3 with an efficient 6-0, 6-1 dispatch of Tom Perreault.

Two fledgling doubles teams clicked as sophomore Jay Levine and Marc Formichella toppled Dan King and Bryan McFeeters 6-2, 6-0, and the tandem of Scott Munroe and Ross Fenton toyed with the Wildcats' Mike Gargan and Mark Perriman 6-0, 6-0.

Andover, the only team to beat Methuen (11-2) this spring, made it two 5-0 sweeps as the Golden Warriors threw their top lineup on the court against the Rangers.

Queen overpowered Dave Carroll 6-2, 6-1, Stein showed little respect for Brian Kobrenski 6-0, 6-0, and Monahan used a stumble-stampede approach to beat Dave Zukofsky 2-6, 6-1, 6-2.

In doubles, Iarrobino and Dahlstrand pummeled Neil McCarthy and John Minassian 6-0, 6-2, while Ravens and sophomore Ravi Tharisavi had a 6-3, 7-6 (8-6 tie breaker) struggle with Nick Patel and Sam Bragg.

Winless Tewksbury became AHS' 13th victim on Friday the 13th as Tharisavi nipped Joe Dunn 6-2, 3-6, 6-2, Formichella spanked Earl Curran 6-0, 6-0 at No. 2, and Levine slammed Eric Nuttle 6-0, 6-0.

In doubles, Munroe and Fenton clicked in a 6-1, 6-0 rout of Josh Elliot and Mike Hession at No. 1.

Eric Pisick and C.J. Dadd connected with a 6-2, 6-0 cruise past Steve Vanni and Mike Harriman at No. 2.

AHS acquitted in net tourney

By Rick Harrison

Andover High tennis players acquitted themselves well in the opening weekend of play at the annual Eastern Mass. North Sectional Individual Singles and Doubles Championships.

Senior captain Alison Georgian and freshman Heather Young, the Lady Warriors' No. 1 and 2 singles players respectively, survived the preliminary rounds and advanced to this weekend's Sectional quarterfinal, semifinal and championship play at Weston High (10 a.m.).

Should Georgian or Young continue their success Saturday and Sunday they will proceed to the State Individual Championships later this season.

On the boys side, Andover had all its representatives advance through the first day's play for the first time ever.

However, only the No. 1 doubles tandem of senior captain Jon Iarrobino and sophomore Kurt Dahlstrand remained alive through the quarterfinals.

They moved to the boys North Sectional semifinals this Saturday at Wellesley High.

Andover boys

Jon Iarrobino and Kurt Dahlstrand, seeded No. 4, won two matches last weekend at the Lampson courts in Billerica.

They opened with a 6-2, 6-7 (4-7), 6-3 marathon victory over the Danvers High top doubles team of Dave Dolph and Matt Lozow.

Their second win was a come-from-behind 4-6, 6-1, 6-1 conquest of Burlington High's first doubles duo of Matt Glennon and Steve Callahan.

The Golden Warriors other doubles entry, unseeded sophomore Andy Ravens and senior Will Hall, won twice on opening day as they swept past the Marblehead High pair of Jeremy Johnson and Mike Murphy 6-1, 6-1, and then ousted Masconomet Regional's top team of Andy Gaudet and Chris Stambaugh 6-3, 6-3.

Ravens and Hall were then eliminated in the Round-of-16 by Lynnfield High's No. 1 team of Shawn Eggerton and Jeff Falkoff. The Pioneers' tandem won the first set handily, 6-1, but needed a 10-8 overtime tie-breaker victory before completing the sweep, 7-6.

Singles

In singles, senior captain Dan Queen was seeded fifth.

He received a first-round bye, defeated Swampscott High second-singles player Pat Carey 6-1, 6-2, and then ousted Chelmsford High first-singles Jason Bisset 7-5, 6-2.

On the second day of action, Queen was beaten in the fourth round by St. John's Prep first-singles Steve Nasson 6-1, 6-1.

Sophomore Mike Stein, seeded No. 8 in the North, also received a first-round bye and then swept past Lynnfield High third-singles' player Matt Wilson 6-2, 6-0.

In second-day play, Stein eliminated North Reading second-singles Matt Johnson 6-2, 6-0 before Lynnfield High standout J.D. Hall halted his run 6-1, 6-1.

Hall, who is seeded No. 2 behind Burlington High sophomore Dennis Baden, also ended the hopes of Andover senior Captain Adam Monahan.

Monahan beat Swampscott High first singles Dan Gelbe 6-2, 6-0, and Marblehead High first singles Dave Bruet 6-0, 4-6, 6-0 before losing to Hall 0-6, 3-6.

Andover girls

Alison Georgian, seeded No. 2 behind Bedford High sophomore Elisa Banner, advanced with a 7-6, 6-3 victory over No. 6 seed Miara Abramson of Wayland High.

Heather Young, a New England Lawn Tennis Association standout who is undefeated in her first season of high school varsity competition, disposed of Amy Gubbins of Manchester-by-the-Sea, 6-3, 6-3.

Junior Jen Griffin was ousted on the first day along with the Lady Warriors' top doubles combo of junior Jackie LeMaitre and sophomore Andrea Marvin.

AHS volleyball team is a well-oiled machine

By Rick Harrison

The well-oiled machine known as the Andover High boys volleyball team, operating on all cylinders, remained undefeated and qualified for the State Tournament with recent 2-0 sweeps of non-league Cambridge Rindge & Latin, Boston Latin, Algonquin Regional of Northboro and North Alliance foes Methuen and Lowell High.

The victories boosted the Golden Warriors' overall record to a perfect 14-0, including 7-0 atop the league, as the AHS netmen pursue the first undefeated regular season in the sport's brief six-year varsity history.

Thirteen of the first 14 wins were 2-0 sweeps.

This will be the fourth tournament appearance and Andover, 74-27 since 1989 for a flashy .733 winning percentage, is also seeking its fourth league championship.

The title was ripe for clinching last night when Coach George Sullivan's squad returned to action against second place Chelmsford (6-1 league, 11-2 overall).

The stretch run continues with another North Alliance match tomorrow afternoon at home against winless Billerica (3-30).

"The kids want New Bedford (home match next Monday) big-time," said Coach Sullivan. "New Bedford is getting a lot of publicity from the Boston papers, and our players believe we also deserve some recognition for our accomplishments this year. In Boston it seems they hardly know we exist up here in the Merrimack Valley."

That match could be a preview of the State Tournament final.

The regular season concludes next week with a non-leaguer at Somerville High on Tuesday, and the league finale at home Wednesday against visiting St. John's Prep of Danvers (both 3:30 p.m.).

The Andover teams, idle for six days prior to the Chelmsford match, stayed sharp when the junior varsity challenged the varsity to an intra-squad match. The JVs, apparently feeling their oats, were swept 3-0 in the best-of-five match.

Andover 2 Lowell 0

The Golden Warriors shook some early cobwebs to sweep past the Red Raiders 15-7, 15-6 at the spacious Riddick Memorial Field House.

"We were lethargic at first," said Coach Sullivan. "It may have been the lighting and the spaciousness of the field house that threw our kids off. It took a little getting used to, although the high ceiling made it nice for setting and serving."

"Our passing was off the mark early in the match, which threw our hitting off, but eventually we got into the flow. We were in control all the way but could have played better."

Andover had just one service ace, but 45 of its 46 serves were in play.

Senior Captain Glenn Wilson, senior middle hitter Alex Raymond and senior Captain J.P. Guerard led the balanced attack with five kills each.

Raymond was also 8-for-9 hitting, Wilson 6-for-9 hitting and 7-for-7 serving, and Guerard was 10-for-10 serving.

Junior Tim Foley added a perfect 7-for-7 hitting, with three kills, and 7-for-7 serving.

Andover 2 Algonquin Regional 0

After spending more than an hour on the bus ride to Northboro, a suburb of Worcester, the Golden Warriors needed only 20 minutes on the court to dispatch the host team 15-6, 15-0.

"There is a lack of stability in the Algonquin program right now," said Coach Sullivan. "They've changed coaches and they don't even have a JV team this year."

"This was not one of our better matches technically. We didn't have one block in the two games, but everyone played and we were back on the bus headed home very quickly."

J.P. Guerard had eight kills, Alex Raymond and Glenn Wilson seven kills each, Tim Foley hit well, Sean Croteau was the top setter and Jim Woodroffe played a strong match defensively.

Andover 2 Cambridge R&L 0

The locals won the first game, 15-3, and overcame a 13-7 deficit in the second game by scoring the final eight points for a 15-13 victory.

"We got into a groove pretty quickly and Cambridge never really hit stride," said Coach Sullivan. "There was some exciting play at the net in the second game, when we had to overcome 7-2 and 13-7 deficits."

The victory offered a measure of revenge for the Golden Warriors' overall program. Cambridge knocked Andover out of the 1991 State Tournament early with a stunning 3-2 upset victory, and last spring CR&L whitewashed the locals 2-0 in the season opener for both teams.

This was only the second loss for Cambridge in nine matches this year (7-2).

Andover's serving was on target as the Warriors put 57 of 59 in play. The winners also survived 12 attack errors and 15 serve-receive mistakes.

J.P. Guerard was 12-for-16 hitting, with a team-high eight kills, and he was 6-for-6 serving.

Tim Foley went 10-for-13 hitting, with six kills, and 10-for-10 serving.

Glenn Wilson was 9-for-11 hitting, with six kills, 11-for-11 serving and he also played strong defense.

Doug Miller went 7-for-8 hitting, with one kill, 12-for-13 serving and he was cited for solid defensive play.

Alex Raymond was an offensive force with 13-for-15 on the attack, including six kills.

ing and was a defensive standout, while Jim Woodroffe was 4-for-4 serving.

Andover 2 Methuen 0

This match was no contest as the Golden Warriors completed a season series sweep of the Rangers with a 15-3, 15-4 romp.

"We pounded the ball harder than we had in any previous match. The kids were really teeing off," said Coach Sullivan. "The passing was also right on the mark."

"We tried a few slides, quick fronts, tandems and crosses. But we're starting to get away from the fancy stuff and concentrating on doing the basics really well."

The statistics were well spread as the playing time was evenly distributed.

Tim Foley finished 6-for-6 in attacks, with five kills, and he was 4-for-4 serving.

Doug Miller went 5-for-5, with four kills, and 7-for-7 serving.

J.P. Guerard was 5-for-6 hitting, with five kills, and 6-for-7 serving with two aces.

Alex Raymond was 5-for-6 hitting, with three kills, and Glenn Wilson 4-for-4 hitting with three kills and 4-for-6 serving with one ace.

Sean Croteau and Jim Woodroffe contributed matching efforts, each 5-for-6 serving with one ace.

Andover 2 Boston Latin 0

The tourney qualifying victory was a solid 15-4, 15-4 romp over the visiting Wolfpack (5-6) at the Dunn Gym.

"We got a good jump on them and stayed ahead the whole way in both games," said Coach Sullivan. "They have a 6'4" sophomore leaper who is the hardest hitter I've seen. But we were successful at keeping him on the defensive. We went right at him with our hitters. As this kid learns the game and gets experience over the next two years, watch out."

The Golden Warriors made only one bad serve the entire match, and they also hit the ball well.

"A big key to our success this year is having more than one outstanding hitter," said Coach Sullivan.

Glenn Wilson finished the match 8-for-8 hitting, with two kills, and he was also 8-for-8 serving with one ace.

Swiss native Alex Raymond was 7-for-8 hitting, with four kills, and junior Aaryn Schmuhl was 3-for-3 hitting with two kills.

J.P. Guerard had a perfect day with 5-for-5 hitting, two kills, and 7-for-7 serving which included several successful jump serves.

Tim Foley contributed 4-for-7 hitting, with three kills, and 8-for-8 serving with two aces.

Rounding out the serving leaders were Doug Miller (7-for-7), Sean Croteau (7-for-8) and Jim Woodroffe (4-for-4).

Andover JVs

The AHS junior varsity improved to 13-0 with 2-0 sweeps of Cambridge Rindge & Latin, Boston Latin, Lowell and a come-from-behind 2-1 victory over Methuen.

In the 15-10, 15-7 triumph over visiting CR&L, Pat Hess did it all with 16-for-16 serving, 6-for-9 hitting with five kills, and a strong defensive effort.

Freshman Nick Wilson was 6-for-6 hitting with five kills, and sophomore Joe Hogarty 4-for-4 serving and 4-for-4 hitting with four kills.

Other standouts included Greg Litchfield (5-for-8 hitting, three kills), Andy Shen (4-for-5 hitting), sophomore Shaun Rodriguez (6-for-6 serving,

AHS dominates Boosters meet, shatters records

By Rick Harrison

Jamie Barron shattered school and meet records in the long jump with a prodigious 18'8½" leap, and helped the girls 4x100-meter-sprint relay team tie its own school mark, to earn the girls division MVP award as host Andover High once again dominated the 35th annual Boosters Invitational Track and Field Meet at the Eugene V. Lovely oval.

For the 32nd time in 35 years the Golden Warriors emerged as meet champion, piling up 337 points en route to the overall team title in the nine-school competition.

While Barron, who also placed second in the 100-meter dash, was the girls MVP, fellow AHS junior Mike Marcinonis earned the boys Most Valuable Performer trophy after winning the long jump, placing second in the 100 meters and running a leg for the victorious 4x100 meter sprint relay team.

Team scores

Andover won the overall title, combining boys and girls scores, with 337 points.

Reading was a distant runner-up with 218 points, followed by Tewksbury at 196.5, Haverhill 103, Methuen 86, Winthrop 74, Wilmington 33, North Andover 19.5 and Melrose 17.5.

The Andover boys chalked up 173 points to win their division, while Tewksbury had 113.5, Reading 111, Winthrop 44, Haverhill 34, Wilmington 26, Methuen 20.5, North Andover 19.5 and Melrose 16.5.

The Andover girls scored 164 points, Reading 107, Tewksbury 83, Haverhill 69, Methuen 65, Winthrop 30, Wilmington 7 and Melrose 1. The North Andover girls did not score.

Andover girls

The Lady Warriors, winners of the Wilmington Invitational and State Class B Relays earlier this spring, had five first-place performances.

"This is the meet that started girls spring track at Andover," said Coach Collins. "We began with a few girls (16 years ago) and built the program from there."

Jamie Barron's spectacular long jump was more than a foot better than her own previous best effort, and easily surpassed the old school record of 17'6" established by Jill Ippolito.

Other individual winners were sophomore two-miler Susan Ashlock (11:52.9), sophomore triple jumper Missy Famiglietti who uncoupled a personal-best 35'1" leap, and junior sprinter Amy Levesque in the 200 meter dash (26.2).

The 4x100-meter-sprint squad of Barron, Levesque, sophomore Randi Spiegel and senior captain Stacey Lavoie matched the school record of 50.9, which the same foursome set last spring.

Andover dominated the long jump and triple jump, taking three of the top four places in both.

Amy Baker "came out of nowhere" according to Coach Collins for a second-place leap of 17'1" in the long jump. Junior Rebecca Goldenberg was fourth in the same event (16'9").

In the triple jump, second place junior Eveline Yang (34'9") and fourth-place Allyson Ahern (33'0") also unleashed personal-best leaps.

Three AHS girls placed in the high jump, junior Carolyn Vallee tying for second (5'0") while junior Amanda Verreault and Lavoie tied for fourth place (4'10").

In the mile, freshman Abby Clarke placed second in a personal-best 5:42.1 and sophomore Erin Collins was fourth (5:45.6).

Barron was second in the 100 meter dash (13.1) and Spiegel fourth (13.3), while Goldenberg added a second in the 300-meter intermediate hurdles (49.7) and junior Julie Rozopoulos was sixth (51.1).

The 4x400 meter relay team of senior Robin Lapointe, Ashlock, Verreault and senior captain Sarah Witman was second (4:15), while the 4x800-meter-relay quartet of Ellen Buckley, junior Beth Cummins, Amy Twohig and senior Sarah Goldin finished third (11:11.3).

Eleanor Smith placed third in the discus (87'1") and junior Stephanie Casey was fifth (82'3"). AHS also took third and fifth in the 400 meters with Sarah Witman (62.7) and Lapointe (66.9).

In the shot put, junior Kim Daher placed fourth (31'5") and freshman Sue Tully fifth (31'2").

Ms. Lavoie settled for fourth in the 100-meter high hurdles after hitting a hurdle; sophomore Kate Jurdi was fifth in the javelin (89'10"), Verreault was fifth in the 800 meters (2:33), and Kim Young sixth in the 200 meters (29.0).

Andover boys

The Golden Warriors had three individual firsts and also captured a pair of relays.

MVP Mike Marcinonis won the long jump with a 21'2" leap, placed second in the 100 meters (11.6), and joined sophomore Josh Hatch, junior Jeff Arsenault and senior captain Dave Jorgenson on the triumphant 4x100 meter sprint relay team (45.1).

Jorgenson added a victory in the 110-meter high hurdles (15.1) and a third place in the high jump (6'0").

Charlie Russo captured the mile run in 4:39.8, with teammate Rick Crispo in close pursuit (4:42.9). Crispo finished second and beat two runners who had edged him earlier this season.

The 4x800 meter relay foursome of junior Mark Adams, junior Greg Foltz, senior Chris Stamm and junior Kevin Shepard won in 8:49.8.

Joining Crispo with strong second-place finishes were senior Adam Anderson in the javelin (156'5"), junior Brian Marshall in the long jump (21'1"), junior Matt Ely in the 800 meters (2:03), sophomore pole vaulter Dan Taylor (11'0") and Hatch in the 200 meters (23.7).

Junior Jon Hall was third in the 400 meters (52.8) and fourth in the high jump (5'10"), while junior Scott Savage added a pair of fourth places in the triple jump (41'3") and 110-meter high hurdles (16.3).

Junior Eric Thompson was fourth in the 200 meters (24.1) and fifth in the triple jump (40'7").

Adam Westaway placed third in the triple jump (41'11"), junior Jason Veilleux tied for third in the javelin (149'6"), and senior Captain Phil Smith was third in the discus (127'8").

Additional fourth places went to shot putter Steve Muench, senior Bob Lane in the discus (124'7"), senior Captain Max Dawson in the 2-mile (10:41) and the 4x400 meter relay team of Russo, Ely, Crispo and Hall (3:38.6).

Sophomore Mike Shaughnessy was fifth in the 100-meter high hurdles (16.5), freshman Peter Ellis sixth in the pole vault (10'6") and Don Pattullo sixth in the deuce (10:50).

strong defense), Paul Krasnoo (5-for-5 serving) and Jeong An (6-for-7 serving).

The JVs put 43 of 45 serves in play. The young Warriors stumbled in the opening game against upstart Methuen, losing 13-15, but then rallied for 15-6 and 15-4 triumphs.

"Methuen has improved and our kids were a little nonchalant in the first game," said Coach Sullivan.

The junior varsity played without top setter Rodriguez, but Jeong An stepped into the breach. "He was nervous at first but settled down and did the job," said Coach Sullivan.

An finished 16-for-19 serving, with four aces, while Litchfield was 13-for-13 serving and Krasnoo 7-for-7 serving.

Hess had another solid all-around match with 16-for-20 hitting, seven kills and 7-for-7 serving. Hogarty was 9-for-12 hitting, with five kills, and 9-for-10 serving with one ace.

Abdel Ortiz added 11-for-12 hitting, with three kills, and Shen chipped in a solid defensive effort.

The 15-3, 15-6 sweep of Boston Latin

The AHS junior varsity was 42 for 45 serving against Latin.

In the 15-3, 15-1 rout of Lowell, Shen did an outstanding job passing and hitting, Rodriguez was sharp setting and passing, and other all-around fine efforts were contributed by Ortiz, Hess and Hogarty.

Jamie Barron shines; AHS girls clinch track title

By Rick Harrison

Junior Jamie Barron continues to chalk up double victories with impressive regularity, winning both the long jump and 100 meter dash in two recent dual meets as the Andover High girls track team clinched another league title by routing Merrimack Valley Conference foe Haverhill, 102-34, before dropping a close 71-65 decision to upbeaten intra-town archrival Phillips Academy.

The AHS boys, welcoming standout Dave Jorgenson back to the fold, produced a 102-43 conquest of Haverhill before dropping consecutive decisions to powerhouse Central Catholic, 101-44, and to Phillips, 84-61.

The Lady Warriors have clinched another MVC Large School Division title, as they improved to 3-0 in the division and 5-1 overall including crossover and non-league competition.

The AHS boys, whose league championship hopes were shattered by undefeated Central, emerged from recent action with a 2-2 division record and 4-3 overall mark.

Earlier this week, Andover wrapped up the 1994 dual meet season by traveling to Methuen for separate MVC clashes on different days.

This weekend, the Merrimack Valley Conference Championship Meet will take place, and next Saturday Andover will participate in the State Class B Meet, where the Lady Warriors should be one of the favorites.

"We knew the girls would be strong, but they've shown even more depth than we expected this year," said Head Coach Dick Collins.

"Their margins of victory in dual meets (115, 96, 68, 42 and 39 points) have been surprising. We're doing it on numbers. A good example was the State Relays, where 29 girls scored points. We didn't anticipate so many kids coming through with quality performances week after week.

"We had no illusions about the meet with Phillips Academy," said Coach Collins. "Over the years, we've split about even with them. They're very strong again this spring and we knew both the boys and girls meets would be very competitive.

"Central Catholic is a buzzsaw; the No. 1 boys' team in the state. They can probably murder anyone in Massachusetts in a dual meet," noted Coach Collins. "They're strong in many of the same areas we are, and they took points from us in events where we've scored heavily against other opponents this spring."

One of the Red Raiders' best weightmen, sophomore Ned Finneran, who consistently breaks 50 feet in the shot put, is from Andover.

Andover girls 102 Haverhill 34

In the kind of performance that has become typical this season, the Lady Warriors placed first in 12 of 16 events and swept the javelin, triple jump, 100-meter high hurdles, and 100- and 200-meter dashes.

Jamie Barron won two events and there were six personal-best performances.

Barron won her two specialties, the long jump (16'6") and 100 meters (12.8), and joined sophomore Randi Spiegel, junior Amy Levesque and senior captain Stacey Lavoie on the devastating 4x100 meter sprint relay team, which won in 52.7.

Lavoie, who holds the school record in the 100-meter high hurdles (14.7) and looks 100 percent recovered from a leg injury suffered during the winter season, led the sweep of that event with a 15.3 clocking.

Levesque was also an individual first-place finisher in the 200 meters (26.9).

Perhaps the most impressive personal-best came from sophomore distance star Susan Ashlock, who continued to amaze with her winning 11:47.8 clocking in the two-mile. It was the first time she eclipsed the 12-minute mark, and Ms. Ashlock continues to take huge chunks off her best time with every race.

Two of the three girls in the triple jump had personal-best leaps as sophomore Missy Famiglietti soared 34'4", junior Eveline Yang 33'10" and Allyson Ahern 32'2".

Other AHS winners were junior Kim Daher in the javelin (97'7"), Eleanor Smith in the discus (91'9"), senior captain Sarah Witman in the 400 meters (62.5) and junior Rebecca Goldenberg in the 300-meter intermediate hurdles (50.8).

Completing the sweep in the javelin were sophomore Katie Jurdi (94'0") and junior Leah Mason (87'1"), while 2-3 in the 100 hurdles went to Goldenberg and sophomore Carroll Cunningham, 2-3 in the 100 meters to Spiegel (13.0) and sophomore Laura Burkle (13.1), and second-third in the 200 meters to sophomore Kim Young (28.2) and Burkle (28.4).

The versatile Goldenberg, who scored 11 points in the meet, added another second in the long jump (15'8").

Junior Amanda Verreault contributed a second in the high jump (4'10") and a third in the 800 meters (2:39).

Junior Julie Rozopoulos was runner-up in the 300 hurdles (51.5), freshman Abby Clarke second in the 800 meters (2:38) and sophomore Erin Collins second in the mile (5:51).

Adding to the spate of third places were Robin Lapointe in the 400 meters (66.9), Daher in the shot (31'5") and Tully in the discus (89'6").

The Lady Warriors outscored Haverhill 44-10 in the six field events and 58-24 in the running events.

Andover boys 102 Haverhill 43

The Golden Warriors won 11 of the 17 events and achieved sweeps in the discus, high jump, pole vault, 110-meter high hurdles and 300-meter intermediate hurdles.

The Andover boys outscored the Hillies 53-10 in the field events and 49-33 in the running events.

Senior captain Dave Jorgenson made an auspicious 1994 dual meet debut with a double victory in the 110-meter high hurdles, which he blistered in 14.6, and the high jump (5'10").

The time in the hurdles was just 0.3 off the school record of 14.3 and placed him in some elite company, including recent graduate Jason McCue.

Jorgenson did not come in cold, however, as he practiced with the team all spring.

Another strong individual performance came from junior Mike Marcionis, who registered a first, second and anchored a victorious relay team.

Individual winners for AHS were senior captain Phil Smith in the discus (125'0"), junior Jason Veilleux in the javelin (154'4"), Marcionis in the long jump (19'2"), Adam Westaway with a personal-best 41'4" triple jump, sophomore Dan Taylor in the pole vault (9'0"), sophomore Chris Richter in the 300-meter intermediate hurdles (45.4), junior Matt Ely in the 800 meters (2:06.8) and sophomore Charlie Russo in the two-mile (10:41.5).

The 4x100 meter sprint relay quartet of sophomore Alex Dalis, sophomore Josh Hatch, junior Jeff Arsenaault and Marcionis placed first in 46.2.

Completing the sweep of the discus were senior Bob Lane (109'6") and junior Mike Dalton (109'2"), while 2-3 in the 110 hurdles were junior Scott Savage (16.1) and sophomore Mike Shaughnessy (16.4), and second-third in the 300 hurdles were junior Max Soong (46.1) and senior Andy Shulman (46.7).

Positioning in both the high jump and pole vault was determined on misses.

Runner-up Ely and junior Jon Hall matched Jorgenson in the high jump by also clearing 5'10," while Arsenaault and junior Shawn Donohue equaled Taylor's 9-foot effort in the pole vault (the vault heights were lower than usual because of tricky winds).

The best race of the day was the mile, where Andover senior Rick Crispo ran 4:48.1 and was nosed out in a near dead heat by Haverhill ace Keith Baldwin (4:48.0). The pair ran together virtually wire-to-wire.

Junior Eric Thompson produced a second place in the long jump (18'8") and third in the 200 meters (24.5).

Other runners-up were Steve Muench in the shot put (personal-best 42'1"), Savage in the triple jump (40'2"), Marcionis in the 100 meters (11.8), sophomore Josh Hatch in the 200 meters (24.1) and Hall in the 400 meters (55.1).

Adding thirds were junior Dave Mazin in the mile (5:14), senior Adam Anderson in the javelin (152'4"), Matt Herling in the 400 meters (56.2) and Smith in the shot put (41'2").

Phillips girls 71 Andover 65

The Big Blue was sparked by a standout effort from North Andover's Leslie Dise, who placed first in the triple jump (35'3"), second in the high jump (5'0") and third in the 100-meter high hurdles (16.4).

The Lady Warriors earned seven first-places in the 16 events, scoring in all but the 4x400 meter relay and sweeping the long jump.

The undefeated Phillips girls didn't clinch the victory until Dise won the triple jump on her final leap. Had she remained in third place, Andover would have captured the meet by one point (68-67). A victory in the 4x400 relay would also have given AHS the triumph.

Jamie Barron had another superb afternoon with two victories in the long jump (17'0") and 100 meter dash (12.9).

She once again joined Randi Spiegel, Amy Levesque and Stacey Lavoie on the victorious 4x100 meter sprint relay team (50.8).

Kim Daher contributed a first in the shot put (30'8") and second in the javelin (92'5").

Other individual winners were automatic Lavoie in the 100-meter high hurdles (15.1), Rebecca Goldenberg in the 300-meter intermediate hurdles (49.5) and Levesque in the 200 meters (26.5).

Susan Ashlock performed an arduous double, finishing second in both the 1,500 and 3,000 meters.

Her 4:52.9 in the 1,500 placed her runner-up to PA's Kim Miller in a photo-finish. Miller clocked in 4:52.8.

Ashlock's 10:54.1 in the 3,000 was also very competitive with winner Jen Long of Chelmsford (10:49.8), the reigning New England Prep School champion.

Completing the sweep of the long jump with identical 15'11" leaps were Goldenberg and Eveline Yang.

Other Andover second-places were garnered by Sue Tully in the shot put (29'5"), Missy Famiglietti in the triple jump (34'4") and Amanda Verreault in the 800 meters (2:31.5).

Also finishing third were Leah Mason in the javelin (83'2"), Yang in the triple jump (34'3"), Carolyn Vallee and Verreault, who tied in the high jump (4'8"), Eleanor Smith in the discus (83'11"), Goldenberg in the 100 hurdles (16.9), Julie Rozopoulos in the 300 hurdles (50.4) and Abby Clarke in the 800 meters (2:31.6).

In an extremely rare non-winning effort, Sarah Witman settled for third place in the 400 meters (61.8).

Last spring, Phillips Academy handed the Lady Warriors their only dual meet loss, 77-59, and PA also beat Andover in 1992 by a 79-57 score.

Andover last defeated Phillips in girls spring track in 1991 by a convincing 96-40.

Phillips boys 84 Andover 61

These twin powers had split their last two meets; Andover winning 75-70 in 1992 and the Big Blue rebounding 77-68 last year.

This time it was too much Walter Brown, as the Phillips Academy star was a triple-winner in the long jump (22'10"), high jump (6'4") and 110-meter high hurdles (14.7).

The Golden Warriors swept the javelin, but placed first in only four of 17 events and were swept themselves in the pole vault and 3,000 meters.

Phil Smith distinguished himself as a double-winner in the shot put (42'8") and discus (121'8"), but the only other individual first for AHS came from Jason Veilleux in the javelin (141'1").

The 4x100 meter sprint relay foursome of Alex Dalis, Josh Hatch, Jeff Arsenault and Mike Marcinonis also romped home a winner in 45.2.

Completing the sweep of the javelin were a pair of Adams, Anderson (134'1") and Gray (130'1").

Marcinonis added a brace of seconds in the 100 meters (11.6) and long jump (19'7"), while Jon Hall contributed a second in the high jump (6'0") and third in the 400 meters (54.8).

Other runners-up were Steve Muench in the shot put (42'3"), Adam Westaway in the triple jump (40'6"), Dave Jorgenson in the 110-meter high hurdles (14.9), Chris Richter in the 300-meter intermediate hurdles (43.7), Hatch in the 200 meters (24.3), Matt Ely in the 800 meters (2:04) and Rob Lane in the discus (120'11").

Completing the Andover scorers in third were junior long-jumper Brian Marshall (19'6"), triple-jumper Scott Savage (40'5"), Max Soong in the 300 hurdles (44.9), Jeff Arsenault in the 100 meters (11.9), Eric Thompson in the 200 meters (24.7) and Charlie Russo in the 1,500 meters (4:16.9).

Central Catholic 101 Andover 44

The overmatched Golden Warriors managed just four first-place finishes while absorbing one their most lopsided losses in the last four decades.

The only victories came from Dave Jorgenson in the 110-meter high hurdles (14.8), middle-distance runner Matt Ely in the 800 meters (2:05.8), and long-distance standouts Rick Crispo in the mile (4:47.5) and Charlie Russo in the 2-mile (10:21).

Jorgenson's tight victory in the hurdles handed Central standout Mike Leal, the runner-up in 14.9, his first loss of the spring.

Andover seconds went to Jon Hall in the high jump (6'0") and 400 meters (54.5), Brian Marshall in the long jump (20'4"), Adam Westaway in the triple jump (40'7") and Josh Hatch in the 200 meters (23.8).

Adding thirds were Phil Smith in the discus (125'0"), Adam Anderson in the javelin (145'6"), Sean Donohue in the pole vault (10'0"), Jorgenson in the high jump (6'0"), Mike Marcinonis in the long jump (20'2") and 100 meters (11.3), Scott Savage in the triple jump (40'1"), Chris Richter in the 300-meter intermediate hurdles (44.1) and Kevin Shepard in the 800 meters (2:09).

Andover's Ned Finneran placed first in the shot put for Central with a 50'4" toss.

The Red Raiders swept the shot, won both relays and finished 1-2 in the discus, javelin, pole vault, 100 meters and 300 hurdles.

CCHS outscored the Golden Warriors 48-15 in the seven field events and 53-29 in the 10 running events.

(Earlier Meet) State Class B Relays

The Lady Warriors had five first-places and scored in 12 of the 15 events en route to another impressive team victory in the State Class B Relays at Whitman-Hanson High.

Andover led second-place Reading by just nine points after the running events, but pulled away with a strong effort (42 points) in the six field events.

AHS finished with 85 points while Reading, the only serious challenger, had 57.

It was a rewarding but extremely long day for all the participants. The Andover entourage left the high school at 7:30 a.m. and returned 11 hours later at 6:30 p.m., with the championship trophy.

Junior Jamie Barron was a member of three winning teams, co-captain Stacey Lavoie and junior Amy Levesque were both instrumental in two victories, and the 4x1 mile quartet set a new State Class B record.

Sophomore Erin Collins, freshman Abby Clarke, senior Sara Goldin and budding superstar Susan Ashlock shattered the existing mark in the 4x1 mile when they combined for a 22:34.2 clocking.

The old record of 22:57.6 was set by Tewksbury in 1991.

Ashlock's individual time of 5:14.0, which would place in some of the boys' meets, enabled the locals to clip 23.4 seconds off the record.

The Lady Warriors long jump trio of Jamie Barron (16'8"), junior Rebecca Goldenberg and sophomore Liz Salvia finished first.

Barron also joined sophomore Randi Spiegel, Levesque and Lavoie on the winning 4x100 meter squad (50.5), and teamed with sophomore Laura Burkle, sophomore Kim Young and Levesque on the triumphant 4x200 meter sprint quartet (1:50.7).

The other Andover first came from the high jump threesome of junior Carolyn Vallee (4'10"), junior Amanda Verreault (4'8") and Lavoie (4'10") who combined for a total height of 14'4."

The Lady Warriors were second in the shot put with junior Kim Daher (31'4"), freshman Sue Tully and junior Stephanie Casey, and second in the triple jump with sophomore Missy Famiglietti (32'9"), junior Eveline Yang (32'6") and sophomore Allyson Ahern (31'10") who combined to soar 97'1."

The champs tied for second place in the sprint medley with a 4:27.8 clocking, as senior Captain Sarah Witman ran the 400 meter leg, Burkle and Young the 200 meter legs, and Verreault the 800 meters.

The lone third place went to the javelin trio of sophomore Katie Jurdi, who unleashed a personal-best toss of 102'6," junior Leah Mason and Daher.

The distance medley quartet was fourth in 13:25.0 as Abby Clarke ran the 800, older sister Leigh Clarke the 400, Collins the 1,200 meters and Ashlock the mile with another superb 5:19.0 time.

The 4x400 crew of junior Julie Rozopoulos, senior Valerie Gould, Ellen Buckley and Sarah Witman was sixth in 4:22.

The final point came from the shuttle hurdles quartet of Goldenberg, sophomore Carroll Cunningham, Mara Shiff and Stacey Lavoie. They placed second in the seeded heat with a 72.0 clocking, but mysteriously ended up sixth overall.

It was another productive day for first cousins Sarah Witman, Abby Clarke, Leigh Clarke and Samantha Witman.

Boys relays

The Golden Warrior boys did not capture any firsts, but nailed down four second-places and managed to score in nine of the 15 events.

Central Catholic, aided by several strong performances from Andover resident Ned Finneran, including a 52-foot shot put toss, won the team title with 83 points. Andover was second with 53 and host Whitman-Hanson third at 47.

The meet marked the return to competition of AHS senior captain Dave Jorgenson, who was in top form while helping the shuttle hurdles team to a second-place finish.

The sprint medley crew of junior Jon Hall (400 meters), sophomore Josh Hatch (200), junior Mike Marcinonis (200) and junior Matt Ely (800) was second in a combined 3:46.2.

The long-jump trio of junior Brian Marshall (19'10"), Marcinonis and Thompson finished third, missing out on first place by one inch, while the other AHS third went to the distance medley squad of junior Mark Adams (800 meter leg), Jeff McCarthy (400), senior Rick Crispo (1,200) and sophomore Charlie Russo (mile) with an 11:17.5.

The 4x1 mile team of Crispo, Adams, Kevin Shepard and Russo was fourth (19:20), while the discus trio of senior captain Phil Smith (125'6"), junior Mike Dalton and senior Bob Lane also placed fourth.

Completing the scorers was the sixth-place shot put team of junior Steve Muench (41'11"), Smith and junior Spencer Wendt.

Softball team keeps hopes alive for .500 season

By Rick Harrison

The constantly improving Andover High varsity softball team kept alive its flickering hopes for a .500 season, second place in the Large School Division of the Merrimack Valley Conference and an Eastern Mass. Division 1 North Tournament berth with recent wins over Dracut, Methuen and Tewksbury.

The back-to-back wins over Methuen, 11-4, and Tewksbury, 8-2, pumped new life into the Lady Warriors as they entered this week with a chance to produce the school's best softball record in almost two decades.

In other recent play, sophomore Vanessa Blank fired a masterful three-hit shutout as AHS, competing in one of the strongest leagues in the state, continued to earn respect with a 5-0 whitewash of perennial power Dracut.

That victory, the Lady Warriors' first shutout win since an equally impressive 2-0 triumph over Billerica and ace hurler Beth Love late last season, was sandwiched between a 9-3 romp over Lowell, a frustrating 6-4 loss to Haverhill in which the locals were one strike away from victory, and an 8-1 loss to defending State Division 2 champ Wilmington.

Coach Ken Pellerin's squad began the week at 6-8 overall and 5-8 in Merrimack Valley Conference play, winners in four of their last six games.

Three close and frustrating losses to Billerica (4-3), Haverhill (6-4) and Tewksbury (7-4) are all that separate Andover from a winning record.

The locals were at home yesterday against Small School power Lawrence (12-2 record), and tomorrow they host Large School leader Chelmsford (11-3) and ace pitcher Theresa Daley in hopes of avenging an earlier 14-0 loss to the Lions.

The regular season concludes next week with games at Lowell (Monday), home against Dracut (Wednesday) and at non-league North Andover (Thursday).

Statistics

After 14 games, Vanessa Blank led the team in batting with a lusty .452 average (19-for-52). She also boasted a .549 on-base percentage with nine walks, only one strikeout in more than 60 at-bats and a team-high 14 RBI.

Sophomore lefty-swinger Jen Munroe was 12-for-31 for a .387 average, while junior Eileen Sweeney was hitting .375 on 15-for-40 and senior Mandy Wilson .294 on 5-for-17.

Junior Aprille Canniff was batting .279 with 10 RBI and senior co-captain Andrea Marino also had 10 ribbies.

Blank entered the week with a 6-7 pitching record and 3.51 ERA. In 89.2 innings, she had yielded 92 hits and 45 earned runs while walking 42 and striking out 54.

Tewksbury 2

Vanessa Blank was in control throughout as the Lady Warriors split the season series, having suffered a 7-4 loss to the Redgals three weeks earlier.

"We always seem to give Tewksbury one game and beat them in the other game," said Coach Pellerin.

Blank limited the visitors to four singles, one a bunt, at the West Middle School field while striking out 11 and walking three. Both Tewksbury runs came in the sixth and were unearned, as the locals committed four errors.

Andover took a 2-0 lead in the first when junior shortstop Eileen Sweeney singled, Andrea Marino drew a one-out walk off losing hurler Melissa Mochrie, both runners advanced on a passed ball, Blank ripped an RBI single, and Marino came home on another passed ball.

The score jumped to 5-0 in the third. Jen Munroe began the rally with a line drive opposite-field double that tipped off the shortstop's glove and skipped past the left-fielder. Blank drew a one-out walk, Aprille Canniff slapped an RBI single, Blank scored on a wild pitch, DH Mandy Wilson was hit in the foot with a pitch, and sophomore Elaine Licata lofted a sacrifice fly.

The winners' three-run fifth, which made it 8-0, opened with a one-out walk to Blank. She stole second, Canniff singled and stole second, and Wilson was hit in the foot a second time to load the bases.

Licata's grounder to short was booted, enabling Blank to score, senior co-captain Mindy Fox laced an RBI single, and Wilson crossed with the final run on sophomore Sue Cookson's infield out.

All six AHS hits figured in the scoring, with Canniff going 2-for-4.

Canniff was also a defensive standout at catcher, gunning down two would-be Tewksbury base-stealers in the same inning.

The Andover outfield was not required to make a single putout in the game, which may have been a blessing because it was extremely windy.

Andover 11

Methuen 4

The Lady Warriors completed a season series sweep of the Rangers (4-9), having beaten them 9-2 earlier, as Vanessa Blank tossed a seven-hitter and withstood some shaky defense in the early innings.

The locals committed four errors, all in the first three frames, as they spotted Methuen a 4-0 lead before roaring back.

"We had a little talk between innings and they settled down," said Coach Pellerin. "Vanessa didn't get discouraged. She continued to throw hard and kept us in the game."

Blank had three strikeouts and walked only one.

Andover launched its comeback by scoring two runs without the benefit of a hit in the fourth. Aprille Canniff walked, stole second, took third on a passed ball and scored on another passed ball. Mindy Fox also walked and eventually crossed when Sue Cookson reached on an error.

AHS tied it 4-4 with two more runs in the fifth as Jen Munroe singled, Andrea Marino beat out a bunt single, Canniff advanced both runners with an infield out, and Elaine Licata ripped a clutch two-run single to center field.

A seven-run Warriors' sixth blew the road game wide open.

Cookson and sophomore Meghan Lynch were safe on consecutive Methuen errors, setting the table for Eileen Sweeney, who lashed a two-run single to left-center. Munroe walked, Marino spanked an RBI single, a wild pitch plated Munroe, Blank singled, Canniff drilled a two-run single to right-center and Fox added a run-scoring single.

Marino and Canniff paced the nine-single attack with two each.

Munroe played a strong defensive game at first base with 11 putouts, making several nice stretches and digging several low throws out of the dirt, while catcher Canniff once again was sharp behind the plate.

Wilmington 8

Andover 1

The Wildcats, 14-2 overall, were in a bad mood after losing their perfect MVC record 24 hours earlier with a stunning 5-4 upset loss to a Lowell team that hadn't won in 31 games.

Wilmington ace Adrienne Fay (13-1) and Vanessa Blank locked up in a pitcher's duel for half the game, but the winners snapped a 1-1 tie with five runs in the bottom of the fourth at Aprille Field.

Fay went on to toss a five-hitter, striking out five and walking one, while Blank had a six-hitter with four whiffs and five walks.

The Lady Warriors' lone run came in the third when Meghan Lynch worked Fay for a two-out walk, Eileen Sweeney cranked a double and Jen Munroe laced an RBI single.

Andover left runners stranded in scoring position, at second and third base, and never really threatened thereafter.

Wilmington did its damage in the pivotal fourth with two out, the key strokes a two-run double by Lori Southmayd and run-scoring singles from Nancy Pote and Fay.

Andover's three other hits were singles by Mandy Wilson, Andrea Marino and Mindy Fox.

"It was not a good game for us," said Coach Pellerin. "We committed nine errors. Wilmington can make any opposing team look bad. We lost our focus with two down in the fourth, and Wilmington probably hits the ball harder than any other team in the league including Haverhill."

The Wildcats ripped Andover 15-6 in the MVC opener for both teams on April 13.

Dracut 0

The Lady Warriors, who also shut out Dracut 2-0 in their last encounter midway through the 1993 campaign, bunched all five runs in the top of the second and rode the solid hurling of Vanessa Blank.

Vanessa, living up to her name by "blanking" the Middies, struck out six, walked only two, yielded three singles and was supported by a defense that committed just one error.

"It was as good an all-around game as I've ever seen Andover play," admitted Middies' veteran Coach Dana Morrill.

"We got the first out in every inning and that took a lot of pressure off Vanessa and the defense," explained Coach Pellerin.

In the pivotal five-run second, Dracut pitcher Karen Martin walked Blank to start the rally. Senior captain Mindy Fox laid down a bunt, and both runners were safe when the ball was misplayed.

Sophomore Elaine Licata lashed a one-out single to load the bases, a passed ball rescued Blank with the first and game-winning run, and sophomore Sue Cookson walked to re-jam the sacks.

Eileen Sweeney followed with a run-scoring single, Jen Munroe slapped a two-run opposite-field double down the line in left, and the final run crossed on another passed ball.

Dracut left two runners aboard in the first inning, but its most serious threat came in the fifth when a single, error and walk loaded the bases with two out. Blank retired the next batter on a strikeout, fooling her with a 2-2 changeup, and she coasted the rest of the way.

Sweeney led the six-hit offense with a pair of singles, while Blank and senior co-captain Andrea Marino had safeties that didn't figure in the scoring.

Defensive standouts were right fielder Marino and sophomore left fielder Meghan Lynch, each of whom made a running catch, first baseman Wilson (nine putouts) and aggressive third baseman Licata (three assists).

Carrie Ladebauche spiked a first-inning single for Dracut, while Heather Swerchesky and Jen Kearns produced the other singles in the fourth and fifth frames, respectively.

Lowell 3

A seven-run bottom of the first put this game away early, as the Lady Warriors rolled over winless Lowell at the West Middle School field.

Vanessa Blank scattered five Red Raider hits, walked three and whiffed one.

"We may have scored seven runs in an inning against Lowell last year (21-0 win), but I can't remember ever getting off to this quick a start in a game," said Coach Pellerin.

After spotting Lowell a 1-0 lead, AHS paraded 11 batters to the plate in the opening stanza.

A wild pitch plated Sweeney and advanced the other two runners for Blank, who laced a two-run single to left-center.

Mandy Wilson singled, Aprille Canniff dropped a sacrifice bunt, Mindy Fox was hit by a pitch to re-load the bases, and "Skippy" Lynch followed with another two-run single to left-center.

Elaine Licata lashed an RBI single and the seventh run crossed on Sweeney's infield out.

Andover boosted the lead to 9-1 in the third as Fox singled, Lynch walked, the pair worked a double steal, Licata spanked her second run-producing single and Sweeney dropped an RBI safety-squeeze bunt.

Lowell, which stranded two runners in both the second and third frames, added a pair of harmless runs in the fifth to complete the scoring.

Blank led the 10-hit attack with a double and single, Licata had two singles, and Canniff contributed a single that didn't figure in the scoring.

Defensively, Blank helped herself immeasurably by handling nine chances flawlessly on the mound.

Left fielder Lynch made yet another running catch in foul territory,

Sweeney continued to sparkle at short-stop and Licata was solid at the hot corner.

Haverhill 6 Andover 4

The Lady Warriors, beaten 9-2 by MVC Large School co-leader Haverhill (7-3 record) earlier this spring, carried a 4-3 lead into the seventh as they tried to stretch their win streak through three games.

Pitcher Vanessa Blank had the visitors down to their last strike, with two outs, one runner aboard and a 2-2 count on Renee Adams.

Adams laced the next pitch on the ground and reached base on a high throw. The next batter dumped a seeing-eye double that fell just out of the reach of three AHS fielders, tying the game and putting runners at second and third.

"(Sarah) Jewett, one of their top hitters, was up next and with first base open, we decided to walk her intentionally to set up a force at any base," explained Coach Pellerin.

"Vanessa threw three pitches well out of the strike zone, but she (Jewett) swung at two of them anyway."

With two strikes, the strategy changed. Blank was ordered to throw a high pitch hoping that Jewett would go fishing. The ball was thrown high, Jewett did offer, but her nubbed roller stopped just beyond second base as the two tie-breaking runs scored.

Andover, which had stranded seven runners earlier in the game, went down 1-2-3 in the bottom of the seventh.

"It was a very well-played game on both sides," said Coach Pellerin. "I thought Vanessa pitched even better than she had against Dracut, because Haverhill is a better hitting team, and I also thought we outplayed them in the field."

"We couldn't catch a break in the final inning. It was one of those things, a series of close plays that all went Haverhill's way."

"But it's encouraging to see how much smarter Vanessa is getting as a pitcher with each game. She's learning how to 'go up the ladder' and make the hitter swing at bad pitches."

The Lady Warriors erased a 1-0 deficit with two runs in the second inning.

Elaine Licata was hit by a pitch, Aprille Canniff bunted her to second, Mandy Wilson singled and stole second, Licata raced across on a wild pitch and Eileen Sweeney ripped a go-ahead RBI single.

AHS made it 3-1 in the fifth when Jen Munroe drew a one-out walk, Andrea Marino singled, and a throwing error on Blank's fielder's choice grounder plated Munroe.

The Hillies nicked Blank for two runs in the top of the sixth on Gagnon's home run with one aboard, tying it 3-3, but Andover retaliated with one in the home half when Wilson and Mindy Fox drew one-out walks, and Sweeney followed Sue Cookson's line drive out with an RBI single.

That set the stage for Haverhill's dramatic and frustrating 11th hour rally.

Andover left the bases loaded in the second stanza, runners at the corners in the fifth, and runners at second and third in the sixth.

Blank finished with a complete-game six-hitter, striking out two and walking none.

Andover's six-hit attack was led by Sweeney's 3-for-4, while single safeties were added by Wilson, Blank and Marino.

Defensively, the locals were once again sharp as Sweeney had four putouts and two assists at short, Fox two putouts and one assist at second, Munroe seven putouts at first base and Cookson a fine running catch in center field to take a potential triple away from a Haverhill batter.

JV baseball team beats Lawrence and Dracut to go 9-3-1

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High junior varsity baseball team registered two wins and a tie in five recent games to move its overall record to 9-3-1 this spring.

The young Warriors defeated Lawrence (11-6) and Dracut, tied Lowell (8-8, curfew) and lost to Central Catholic (21-5) and Chelmsford (3-1).

Coach Dan Grams' club was scheduled to play at Methuen and Haverhill earlier this week, and has a chance to avenge the lopsided loss to Central when the teams meet again tomorrow afternoon (3:30).

Sizzling Salafia

Outfielder-pitcher Dave Salafia entered the week on fire offensively, going 10-for-10 during a four-game stretch that included 4-for-4 versus Lowell and a pair of 2-for-2 efforts against Chelmsford and Dracut.

Andover 11

Lawrence 6

Righthander Tom Clarke (2-0), with sharp closing relief from Mark Langone, picked up the pitching win as Andover built an early 7-0 lead and withstood a five-run Lancers' fourth.

Clarke worked five innings, yielding five hits and all six Lawrence runs while fanning six and walking three.

Langone mopped up with two frames of perfect relief, retiring six straight batters including one via the strikeout route.

For the Warriors, who erupted for six runs in the third, Chris Kearn and Dave Salafia led the 17-hit assault. Kearn belted two doubles and one single for two RBI, while Salafia added a triple, single and three ribbies.

Ed Seero beat out two of the winners' six bunt singles, and collected two RBI, while Nate Roberts and Ted Witman laced three singles each.

Peter Kaltsunas contributed two singles and one RBI, Andy Torrisi hammered a two-run triple, Dave Charland and Langone had one single apiece.

Central Catholic 21 Andover 5

In yielding more than six runs for the first time this season, the young Warriors committed 11 errors, issued nine walks and handed Central a whopping 17 unearned runs.

"Just one of those days," lamented Coach Grams, whose three pitchers combined for an eight-hitter.

Starter Dave Salafia (1-1), Chris Kearn and Andy Torrisi all toed the rubber, and Torrisi finished up with three respectable innings. He allowed three hits, two runs (both earned), walked two and fanned two after Central had taken a 19-2 lead.

The Red Raiders scored three runs in the top of the first, 10 in the third, six in the fourth and singletons in the fifth and sixth.

Dana DiFiore had two singles and scored two runs for Andover, Peter Kaltsunas clouted an RBI triple, Kearn laced a run-producing single and Torrisi had a basehit.

Jason Bellorado played a strong defensive game at third base.

Chelmsford 3 Andover 1

The young Warriors lost their second tough decision (2-1 to Billerica) of the spring, as complete-game losing hurler Mark Langone (2-1) fired a one-hitter, walked five and struck out 11.

The second batter of the game singled for the only Chelmsford hit.

All three Lions' runs were unearned and came in the top of the second inning on two walks and three errors, including a dropped outfield fly.

Andover, which managed only five hits, scored its only run in the sixth when fleet Ed Seero tripled and coasted home on Dave Salafia's one-out double.

Ted Witman clouted a long two-out flyball which the left fielder flagged down with a nice running catch to end the inning.

Seero and Salafia had two hits each, Andy Torrisi added a single and Dave Charland was a defensive standout at shortstop.
